ADMINISTRATOR MAINTAINS

Nothing Found To Necessitate Plane Grounding

WASHINGTON (AP)— Federal Aviation Administrator E. R. Quesada said Friday night a special inspection of Electra propjet airplanes has turned up nothing thus far that would warrant grounding the Electra fleet.

"In 52 Electra aircraft inspections to date, the findings do not indicate a need for imposing additional limitations on the aircraft," Quesada said.

"Although all of the results of these tests have by no means been fully analyzed, nothing has been revealed to date which would warrant the grounding of the fleet," he added.

Quesada issued his statement several hours after Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind) said the FAA chief had rejected a recommendation by the Civil Aeronautics Board that all uninspected Electras be grounded.

SHOCKED

"I am shocked that Gen. Quesada would take the chance of ignoring this advice and risk further death from these planes," Hartke said.

The CAB has been investigating the crash of an Electra near Tell City, Ind., last month with the death of all 63 persons aboard.

Hartke said he hopes there will be a Senate investigation.

Quesada said a reduction in the Electra's speed, ordered by FAA after the Indiana crash, "gives it a structural margin as great, if not greater than any aircraft in

Holdup Men Turn Victim Into Torch

DETROIT (AP) — Holdup men who police said wanted to silence their victim riddled a service station attendant with bullets before they soaked him with gasoline and turned him into a human torch in a robbery Thursday night.

Although shot five times Carl P. Nickell, 42, was probably alive, police said, when he was set ablaze near his station in a grisly killing that climaxed a $69 stickup.

"Holdup men did this," said Capt. Fred Davids of the state police. "They probably wanted to be sure that Nickell would not appear in court against them if they were caught as he did against holdup men last fall."

ROBBED

Two men robbed Nickell in the station near Detroit's Willow Run Airport last October. They were arrested and he testified against them. Convicted, they are now free on bond, pending appeal. They will be questioned about Thursday night's murder, Davids said.

The station, owned by Cornick Oil Co. of Ohio, has been robbed eight times in the last two years. Twice Nickell was beaten and once stabbed in stickups. He had been employed at the station four years and usually worked at night.

Nickell's body was still burning when police arrived after being summoned by a customer.

"It was terrible," said Dale Dunson who found the body. "I could see the flames as I drove in. I didn't know it was a person until I got close."

Nickell was lying on his back about 50 feet from the nearest gasoline pump. Police theorized he ran from the station and collapsed after being soaked in gasoline and set on fire.

Only 84 cents was found in a search of the area. Nickell was known to be carrying about $70.

Offshore Oil Move Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton Friday upheld as "in the public interest" the rejection of bids by four oil companies for leasing land off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana for oil and gas drilling.

The Bureau of Land Management rejected the bids as too low. They involved 13 tracts in the outer continental shelf area. The bids were by the Hunt Oil Co., Placid Oil Co., The California Co., and Catco, Inc. The Hunt and Placid firms are owned by H. L. Hunt, the Texas millionaire.

Seaton said in a statement "this department is charged with the responsibility of weighing carefully each and every bid received and rejecting those which it appears are not in the best interests of the government.

"I want to make it clear," Seaton said, "that this department has no intention of doing anything which would discourage exploration by small operators or to preclude exploration of small structures."

Chief Says Russia Has Germs Ready

Estimates Part Of Red Weapons Are Chemicals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's research chief, estimates that one - sixth of the arms Russia has available for use against the West in Europe are weapons for waging chemical warfare.

Trudeau and Maj. Marshall Stubbs, the Army's chief chemical officer, told Congress in partly-censored testimony made public Friday that the Soviets also are putting great emphasis on germ and radiological warfare.

Stubbs said an enemy resorting to germ warfare could knock out 30 per cent of this country's population by using a mere 10 planes or rockets to deliver the germs.

TESTIMONY

Their testimony was given behind closed doors last month to the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Trudeau said the Russians have put a high priority on developing both lethal and non-lethal chemical agents.

"Russian leaders have boasted that they are fully prepared to use new chemical weapons of great significance, and we know that Soviet forces are trained in their use," he said.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D - Pa.) said he was "amazed" by Trudeau's testimony about the amount of chemical weapons in Russia's arsenal. Asked to elaborate. Trudeau said:

"What we mean by that is that of the munitions that are avail-

PSYCHOLOGY TEST

Yale University Students Quizzed

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you ever had a blind date? Gone to a house party? Gotten drunk with a girl? Passed out on a date? Received a flushogram?

These are some of the questions put to 833 Yale University males to find out what changes four years of Yale make in a relatively innocent freshman.

Those changes were summed up Friday by Drs. Ralph M. Rust and James S. Davies, a psychologist-sociologist team, reporting to the Eastern Psychological Assn.

The questions on dating and social experience with girls varied from asking whether the student had ever had a date, to whether he had been jilted — received a flushogram—within the last year.

Generally, a college senior is a student who has had his fling, explained Dr. Rust in an interview.

The senior has more control over his social relations and his drinking, directs himself from within, and is more considerate of others, he said.

Some other highlights from the Yale study:

Sophomores are more likely to disagree and argue with their parents than either freshmen or seniors.

A senior is more experienced with girls, more interested in Yale athletics, more likely to do outside reading, more interested in stage plays and art than is a freshman. He is also more successful with his classmates, attending their parties and double-dating.

More seniors drink than do freshmen, but fewer drink to excess.

Race Incident Sparks Arrest Of 4 In Winn

Negroes Enter Public Library; Two Out On Bond

WINNFIELD (Special) — Four local high school Negro students were charged with disturbing the peace here yesterday after they attempted to obtain a borrower's card at the Winn Parish Library.

There were two boys and two girls in the quartet which appeared at the library about 9:30 a.m. One of the boys and one of the girls posted $300 bond yesterday afternoon. The other two were in jail last night.

Library officials and deputies explained the development this way:

INFORMATION

The group appeared and asked the assistant librarian, Miss Evelyn Billings, for information one of them said he needed to prepare a school research paper.

The male spokesman for the group then asked for certain books and was told to check on the matter Monday at the library.

They then asked for a library card and were referred to head librarian Mrs. Rubie Hanks, who was in an inner office.

As Mrs. Hanks appeared, chief deputy J. J. Crippen walked in the front door and then escorted the group to the sheriff office, one block away.

Crippen said after a day's questioning of the four, that it

Drug Expert Raps Lack Of Inspection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A drug expert told Senate investigators Friday the government provides more inspection safeguards for dogs and cat food than for human medicines.

Dr. Solomon Garb of the Albany, N.Y., Medical College called the situation "intolerable" and "completely incongruous."

He also told the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee that the government is losing up to 30 million dollars a year by allowing low bulk postage rates for drug company advertisements to doctors.

Grab said this amounted to subsidizing the companies. He urged that the rates be increased, particularly since many of the ads were what he called "misleading."

MONEY

He said the government could use the extra postage money to provide $500 to $750 scholarships to every medical student and interne in the United States.

"They need and deserve the money," he said. "The drug companies do not."

With respect to inspections, Garb conceded there was some protection in requiring that drugs be manufactured in conformity with government-accepted purity and potency standards. But he said there should be inspection or certification to enforce this.

"We need a system which will assure every doctor that all his prescriptions will be filled with pure, wholesome drugs, properly manufactured, and of the correct strength," he said.

He testified that this could be done by having federal inspectors on the production line at drug plants.

3 Reasons Lead Pickets To Mansion

Racial Issues, Nerve Gas And Taxes Topics

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Pickets descended upon the White House Friday to protest racial segregation, the stockpiling of nerve gas, and the spending of tax money for military purposes.

But the demonstrators, numbering about 165, were almost lost among the more than 8,000 tourists, the largest crowd of the year, who swarmed into the White House during a two-hour period Friday morning to view its public rooms.

To cap it all, President Eisenhower wasn't even around. He was vacationing in Augusta, Ga.

Except for their signs, it was difficult to distinguish the pickets from tourists when the two groups merged on the sidewalk in front of the executive mansion.

Washington, basking in fine spring weather, was filled with out-of-town visitors here for the Easter holiday and to see the beauty of the Japanese cherry trees now in full bloom around the tidal basin.

The largest group of pickets was composed of about 150 college students from four New England colleges, marching in sympathy with Negro lunch counter demonstrators in the South.

There also were two pacifist groups — about a dozen members of "the committee for non-violent action," who were demanding destruction of nerve gas stockpiles, and nine members of another group called "peacemakers", protesting the use of "taxation for war preparation."

In the midst of these was Sidney Lansing of Newark, New Jersey representing only himself. He

Good Friday Quiet Day In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Good Friday brought race-torn South Africa its quietest day in almost a month but the threat of new work boycotts next week overshadowed optimism.

This was a work holiday and a holiday for the courts which have been grinding out stiff sentences for hundreds of Negroes seized in connection with the campaign against the government's segregation policies.

It also was apparently a rest day for the government's white police, who have been staging daily raids on so-called inciters and intimidators. At nightfall, no raids had been reported for the day.

SUNNY

Johannesburg's sunny streets were almost deserted Friday morning. Many persons attended religious services and the state-controlled radio broadcast programs commemorating Christ's Crucifixion.

The situation also was reported quiet in the sprawling settlements outside Durban, which have been the scene of violent clashes.

From Pretoria came word that Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, who is recovering from an assassin's bullet wounds, has resumed giving orders about government affairs.

The country hoped for a peaceful Easter weekend but there was apprehension about what Monday might bring. That is the day for the beginning of a week-long, stay-home work boycott called by the outlawed African National Congress.

Cuban Band Heading For Mountains

LAS MERCEDES, Cuba (AP)—Manuel Beaton and his band of mountain guerrillas were believed falling back deeper into the mountains of eastern Cuba Friday. Prime Minister Fidel Castro's troops were reported trying to encircle them on Cuba's highest peak.

Little chance of survival is given for Castro's former captain and fellow-revolutionary. Beaton's band is estimated at around 50 men, and the bearded Prime Minister is leading a force of crack mountaineers and veterans of campaigns that toppled the Batista dictatorship.

INDICATION

The first clear-cut indication of where the search is concentrated came from a group of Havana Military Academy hikers.

They were turned back late Thursday night at La Plata, Castro's old command post in the heart of Siera Maestra. They had planned to scale 6,560-foot Pico Turquino, Cuba's highest mountain, but authorities barred the way. The cadets said they learned two columns of about 1,000 men were converging on La Plata from two directions.

La Plata is only about 20 miles from this village nestling in the foothills, but it is a full day's journey by foot and muleback over a narrow trail up steep mountain slopes. The entire area lies about 500 miles east of Havana.

A news blackout continued on the progress of the hunt. The military command at Bayamo, about 36 miles from La Plata, refused to give newsmen any information.

200 TRIPS AROUND EARTH

4,000 Pictures Taken By Tiros

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's Tiros I, the eye-in-the-sky weather satellite, has taken more than 4,000 television pictures of the earth's cloud cover in some 200 trips around the earth, space officials said Friday.

Four other U.S. satellites, including the Transit 1-B navigational satellite launched Wednesday, also are sending information to ground stations.

With Transit 1-B working well, the Navy disclosed plans to launch two more navigational spheres, one next month and another next fall. If things go well, the Navy then will launch a fully instrumented prototype of the satellite navigation system it hopes to have operating in 1962.

The 265-pound Tiros picture-taking satellite, launched April 1, now is circling the Southern Hemisphere once every 99 minutes. For the first 10 days after launching its orbit carried it over more northern areas. It has been swinging slowly south for four or five days.

The most recent pictures sent back to earth by Tiros showed the lower California Peninsula of Mexico. Pictures of South America have not yet been received at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Meantime, this country's Pioneer V, the sun satellite shot into the heavens March 11, fast was approaching the point where it will be five million miles from earth. It was scheduled to pass that mark about 4 p.m. e.s.t., Sunday.

Disapproval Of H-Bomb Is Demonstrated

READING, England (AP)—A three - mile column of "marchers against the H-bomb" hiked through the English countryside to band music Friday night, heading for a mass demonstration in London.

A black - robed Anglican clergyman led the straggling, banner-waving parade, in which visitors from 26 foreign nations mingled with Britons to show their disapproval of nuclear weapons.

With four jazz bands blaring 10,000 young and old pilgrims started a 54-mile trek to London from the gates of Britain's top H-bomb factory at Aldermaston.

"We're picking up more supporters every hour," roared one official above the Dixieland beat. "This country's never seen anything like it. We should be 20,000 strong by the time we rally in Trafalgar Square on Easter Monday."

PROCESSION

Easter Services, Parades Are Noted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Worshipers will gather in the shadow of mountain-top crosses and in flower-bedecked arenas and churches throughout the nation Easter Sunday to celebrate the Resurrection of Christ.

Traditional Easter parades also will give participants a chance to show off their new spring clothes. The most spectacular of these will be on New York City's Fifth Avenue, where tens of thousands will parade. Advertising and other commercial features are banned this year.

Also in Manhattan, the 41st annual Easter dawn service will be held in Radio City Music Hall. The congregation will be asked to pray that the forthcoming summit conference "be filled with the presence of our risen and living Lord."

One of the largest outdoor services will be held in Miami's Orange Bowl, where 40,000 are expected to attend a pageant showing Christ's last days.

Near Lake Wales, Fla., the Bok Singing Tower—a memorial gift from editor and publisher, Edward W. Bok—will draw nearly 5,000 for sunrise services.

At Kenova, W. Va., an annual outdoor service will be held. And in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium thousands will also meet at sunrise.

On a New Hampshire pine-topped knoll near Rindge, non-denominational services will be held at sunrise before an altar

Scientists Hoping For Recovery

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The Discoverer XI satellite sailed into orbit Friday hauling a 300-pound capsule that scientists hope to shoot safely back to earth from 200 miles out in space.

The 17-foot long satellite whizzed over the poles of the earth at 18,000 miles an hour. If all went well inside it — it's crammed with research, guidance and control equipment — the capsule would be sent speeding back to earth some 27 hours after launch.

Net-trailing airplanes at that time would be standing by in the recovery area off Hawaii to try and snag it as it parachuted back from 200 miles over the North Pole.

TRIGGER

The Air force's best sharpshooters have yet to trigger the capsule — about the size of an orange crate — at the right time and place and with everything working correctly so it could be recovered.

The Discoverer XI satellite—forerunner of Midas and Samos intelligence and early warning satellite systems — circled around the earth in 92.35 minutes. Its apogee, farthest point from the earth, was 380 miles and the closest it came to the earth was 109.5 miles.

Discoverer is aimed at learning about orbital satellites and their behavior, stabilization of a satellite in orbit, and techniques for recovering objects from space. Later Discoverer shots are scheduled to boost biomedical specimens into space for psysiological studies.

Embezzlers Both Innocent Of Other's Act

IAEGER, W.Va. (AP) — The cashier and his assistant at a small bank admitted Friday they'd embezzled more than $13,000 over a two-year period.

Strangely, neither of the men apparently knew of the other's activities although they worked just 15 feet apart. The bank located in this southern West Virginia town, had only seven employes.

Arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Howard M. Jarrett were cashier Jack L. McArdle, 32, of Iaeger, and Schubert L. Berry, 36, of Hanover. McArdle was charged with taking $9,415 since Feb. 19, 1958 and Berry with taking $3,681 since last Sept. 21.

HEARINGS

They waived preliminary hearings and were released under $2,000 bond pending action by a grand jury meeting in Bluefield June 15.

The men admitted the charges after a short investigation by FBI agent Ray V. Shoemaker of Huntington and federal and state bank examiners.

McArdle said he took the money to help a relative who owed money. He said he used none of the funds for himself or his family.

Asked what made him to go to the bank's vice president with an admission last Friday, McArdle said, "My conscience, I guess."

McArdle's admission prompted Berry to come front and center to tell of his thefts.

"I knew auditing examiners were there and there wasn't any use to fight it," Berry told a newsman.

"We built a home in '57 and got too deep in debt on it. I borrowed from every loan company in the county. I guess just because I was a banker they let me have too much.

Dedication Of Interstate Highway Se:

The first usable section of Interstate Highway 20, between Choudrant and Ruston, will be dedicated next Saturday, according to Wayne Buckaby, district highway engineer.

At 10 a.m., the 7.2 mile stretch will be opened officially to traffic.

Buckaby said that state and highway department dignitaries will attend the ceremony at Choudrant.

The roadway is part of a major east-west highway from Louisiana to Los Angeles.

"Since it is part of the national system of interstate and defense highways, we have asked the military to participate in the ceremony," Buckaby said.

Gen. George Peniston will detail a color guard to the ceremony and a national guard detachment will be on hand.

Ground for the road was broken in Louisiana on May 31, 1958. The district engineer termed the progress "excellent."

The highway will cross Louisiana from the Texas to Mississippi lines, and run through Monroe.

Prior to the ceremony, Louisiana news representatives will be guests at a reception Friday night at the Holiday Inn in Monroe.

Larger Locks On Ouachita Sought

WASHINGTON (Special) — A bill to provide larger locks for the projected Ouachita river nine - foot channel project has been introduced by Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long (D) La.

The measure would amend the original authorization for the project, present plans call for 400-foot locks on the river. According to estimates presented earlier to the senate and house appropriations committees, the 600 - foot locks would add about $8.4 million to the estimated $43.6 million cost of the nine - foot channel.

In addition to the authorization, supporters of the project are seeking $150,000 in appropriations for the 1961 fiscal year to start drawing of construction blueprints.

Long explained that there is always a time lag from the date of the authorization of a project and the appropriation to permit construction to start, but he said, "we are going to try to shorten that time down just as much as we possibly can."

An aide to Long said an attempt will be made to include the amended authorization in the public works omnibus bill now pending before the senate public works committee. Long will testify before the committee on behalf of the project April 26.

If the planning funds are also appropriated at this session of congress, the U. S. Army Engineers could include the new locks in the construction plans. The administration, however, has recommended against planning funds in its 1961 fiscal year budget.

'Space Age' Pony Express Goes Slower

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pony Express finally arrived Friday from St. Joseph, Mo.—without a pony.

The red-faced rider came by truck. The pony broke down and had to be left behind in Sacramento, even though more than half his journey from Salt Lake had been motorized.

When the Pony Express mail service was inaugurated 100 years ago, the relays of horses and horsemen made it to Sacramento in 10 days. The trucked-horse piggy back" operation of this space age took 11 days.

Jack Nolan, a Culver City, Calif., gunsmith who learned to ride in boyhood back in Omaha, Nebr., stepped out of a truck in San Francisco, turned over 2,500 letters to Postmaster John Fixa—and apologized about the pony.

The high altitude of the Sierras had given the pony a cold—and burned out some valves in the transporting truck.

"The horses made about 300 miles of the 760 miles from Salt Lake," Nolan said.

"But we were losing so much time that we depended more on the truck after we left Fallon, Nev."

He handed Fixa the letters along with a mochilla, a device which fits over the saddle so as to provide mail pouches.

Hiker Says Traffic Is Hinderance

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — American highways may be fine for high-speed automobiles, but they're sure tough on hikers.

So concluded Britain's walking vegetarian, Dr. Barbara Moore, as she reached California's capital city Friday after a 101-mile, three-day hike from San Francisco, mostly along U.S. Highway 40, a busy four-lane expressway.

"I have to keep my eyes on the traffic so much, I don't get to see much of the scenery," Dr. Moore told a reporter.

She prefers to walk on the smooth pavement, but this means she has to step over to the rough macadam shoulder every time a car approaches. This has happened so many times, her right foot is sore.

Another complaint about American highways: "At home, our roads are curved, but yours are so straight."

The plucky 6-year-old woman plans to stride on toward her ultimate goal — New York — after pausing briefly for a midday shower and perhaps another nibble at grass she plucked from roadside pastures.

The next two or three days of her walk will take her from sea level over 7,100-foot Donner Summit and down into Reno.

Dr. Moore, although traveling a bit slower than she expected because of the traffic and an early route mixup, still expects to overtake the two British sergeants who started a day earlier and are some 70 miles ahead.

The servicemen, Flight Sgt. Patrick Moloney of the Royal Air Force and S.Sgt. Mervyn Evans of the British army, hoped to cover 48 miles to the crest of the Sierra Nevada Friday.

Sgt. Roy Rogers, who is driving a truck pulling their camping trailer, said they are in good shape.

Mrs. Aadland Out On Bail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Florence Aadland, charged with contributing to her daughter Beverly's delinquency, got out of jail on $1,000 bail Friday after explaining to a matron:

"I've got to get home. Why, when I was gone once before, I got home to find a man taking a shower in my bathroom. He was a perfect stranger."

Earlier a judge postponed her arraignment until Monday when she appeared in court without an attorney.

Beverly, 17, last girl friend of the late movie star Errol Flynn, has been in juvenile custody since William Stanciu was fatally shot last Saturday in the Aadland apartment.

Beverly told police the 21-year-old actor was accidentally shot as they struggled nude on a bed for his revolver.

The district attorney issued a complaint against the mother Thursday after viewing pictures of a wild party at the apartment shared by mother and daughter.

The photos, taken by a guest, show Beverly in a pajama top and her mother in flowered pajamas in lurid poses with Stanciu and another young male guest.

A prosecutor said Friday there are still more pictures. He said they were taken by the same man, Bob Profeta, who supplied authorities with the photographs that resulted in Mrs. Adland's arrest.

The prosecutor told newsmen that Profeta ran out of film at the party, went to a drugstore, bought a new roll and returned to the apartment to snap more pictures.

Mrs. Aadland is charged with allowing Beverly to drink, appearing intoxicated in her daughter's presence, occupying a bed with a man in Beverly's presence, permitting Beverly to occupy a bed with a man, and exercising so little supervision that Beverly was left alone for six days while the mother was in a hospital. That's when the shooting occurred.

Led off to jail Thursday in a flowered shirt and gray slacks, Mrs. Aadland yelled curses and vulgarities and declared angrily: "I haven't done nothing—I'll sue for false arrest.

"I was sick at the time—of the picture-taking—and almost unconscious because of the pills I was taking. Those pictures were staged."

Heiress, Husband Honeymoon

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Nineteen-year-old heiress Gamble Benedict and Andre Porumbeanu, for whom she may have run out on the Remington typewriter fortune, contained a carefree honeymoon Friday from a plush French Quarter motor hotel.

They smiled at the possibility of Gamble's being disinherited over their elopment, culumination of a stormy romance spanning courts and continents.

They scoffed at the prospect of being arrested on returning to New York, where they plan a church ceremony at St. James Episcopal Church to follow up a runaway civil ceremony April 6 at Hendersonville, N.C.

The newlyweds talked cheerfully about Porumbeanu taking a job in Florida. But it was not clear just what or where his work would be.

A Miami Beach hotel owner said he had offered the 35-year-old Porumbeanu a job as assistant manager, starting next Wednesday. The offer and Porumbeanu's acceptance were handled through a mutual friend, the hotel man said.

Porumbeanu said here, however he will be public relations director for a Florida hotel chain starting next week. He said he and Gamble will go to Miami, where they will stay "until we see what develops."

New York authorities may be at the head of the reception committee should be blissful couple return there. Porumbeanu violated a court order to stay away from the heiress. A warrant also was issued for her arrest as a wayward minor the day she disappeared.

The power behind the legal harassments of their union is Gamble's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Harper Benedict, who controls the Remington fortune and could disinherit her granddaughter.

"I imagine she's pretty annoyed with me and it's (disinheritance) quite possible," said the attractive teenage bride.

"She was completely misinformed and misled by her lawyers," Porumbeanu said. "She could have spared herself a great deal of melodrama and money devoted to trying to prevent our marriage. They were of no effect."

"Grammie didn't understand," Gamble added.

Porumbeanu said they hoped grandmother Benedict would attend their New York wedding. "I don't like arguing or quarrelling with anyone," he said.

TAKE IT WITH A SMILE

AUSTIN, Tex., (UPI) — It is all right to smile, the Sweetheart Election Commission at the University of Texas said, but active campaigning is taboo.

The commission warned candidates that no campaigning "other than speaking to personal friends will be allowed regardless of the distance from the polls."

AREA PARISH

Highest U.S. Weevil Count Is In Madison

WASHINGTON (Special) —The nation's highest boll weevil count has been reported in Madison Parish, La. The Agriculture Department said Friday.

The department's insect experts reported finding 4,748 weevils per acre in the northeast Louisiana parish, the highest in the 24 years during which records have been kept.

The winter survival rate in the northeast Louisiana cotton section was 98 per cent, compared with only 6.67 per cent in the north Delta country of Mississippi.

Last year, only 2,246 weevils per acre were found in Madison parish.

The weevil count was based on examination of samples of wood trash from selected locations near cotton fields. Scientists heat the trash samples and the weevils respond to this "false spring" by moving. The number per acre is then calculated from the number in the sample.

The department noted that early spring weather has an important effect on the number of the weevils who survive to fed on the cotton crop and produce a new generation.

At Tallulah, Madison Parish county agent Max McDonald cautioned cotton farmers to "pay more attention to boll weevils than usual" this year, noting that the weather in the summer months will be the determining factor on whether or not the problem will be serious.

THROW-AWAY MILK BOTTLES

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of competition from metal, paper and plastics makers, the familiar glass milk bottle may soon be replaced by cheaper throw-away glass bottles similar to those used for beer and some other beverages, reports "Modern Packaging" magazine.

Glass container manufacturers, the magazine says, are intensifying research to overcome the inroads of other materials, which in the last five years have taken a 15 per cent bite of the milk container field.

Two Stars Married In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former child actor Dean Stockwell and Millie Perkins, star of "The Diary of Anne Frank," were married here Friday.

They stopped at the Gretna Green Wedding Chapel soon after obtaining a license. They had no attendants. The Rev. Allen Robertson of the Church of Christ married them in a brief ceremony and they left quickly by car.

The young couple wouldn't say where they would go on their honeymoon.

Stockwell is 24, Miss Perkins is 23. She wore a white blouse and a black skirt and he a dark suit and sports shirt.

"They looked just like two very young children," said an official of the chapel.

It was the first marriage for each. The young actor grew from a child actor of the late 40s to a promising leading man in recent TV, stage and film roles.

Stockwell is due in New York next Thursday for one day's additional shooting on a picture, "Sons and Lovers." He and Miss Perkins are under contract to 20th Century-Fox.

Stockwell, born in Hollywood, got his start as a child performer on the stage and in radio.

Monroyan Is Questioned In Man's Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (Special) —Guy Huffty, 46, of Monroe, was arrested here yesterday for questioning in the death of a 41-year old Alabama transient.

Arrested with Huffty was Ralph Hurst, 36, of Memphis, Tenn. Both men denied participation.

The victim, identified as Grover Lee Payton, 41, of Houston, was found dead yesterday in a boxcar at the Texas and Pacific Railway switching yards. His throat had been slashed.

Huffty, whose clothing was spattered with blood, told officers that he and the other two men rode to Fort Worth from Houston Thursday night on a freight train.

Sometime during the ride, he said, Payton was hurt. He maintained, however, that he didn't know what had happened to Payton.

According to Huffty, there were several other men in the boxcar during part of the trip.

Hurst was reportedly too intoxicated to be questioned.

Officers said Payton suffered a severe gash on the neck, from which he apparently bled to death. Broken pieces of a wine bottle were found in the boxcar.

When arrested, Huffty had cuts on both hands. He said he received the cuts when he jumped from the car.

Huffty also said he had walked off from the Houston "pea-patch" Municipal Prison Farm Wednesday.

No charges had been filed last night, but detectives said Huffty and Hurst would be held for questioning.

The states claim the title of the "Switzerland of America." They are West Virginia and New Hampshire.

IN GENERAL ELECTION

Courtney Sees 'Upset Trend'

Kent Courtney, States Rights nominee for governor, forecast last night that "if all those who supported William Rainach in the first primary support us, it's possible we can upset the trend" in Tuesday's General Election.

The New Orleans publisher was in Monroe for a final appearance prior to winding up his campaign in south Louisiana.

He termed Tuesday's vote "historic", since this is the first time "three serious candidates will be in the general electon," and blasted what he termed "deals" by Jimmie Davis, Democratic nominee.

Red - headed Courtney said that "anything over seven per cent of the vote will show the States Rights party is growing." In 1956, when the party was first organized, it received seven per cent of the state vote in the presidential lection, on T Colman Andrews ticket.

Whether he wins or not, the 41-year-old conservative pledges to work with Louisiana's lawmakers to obtain passage of a "Freedom of Choice" amendment, repeal the state income tax, and "expose Communist influences in the NAACP."

On a national level, Courtney, who has been shaping up "third" political parties in other states, says that States Rights "success in 1960 with the independent elector plan depends on how soon the states can get candidates for president and vice - president committed."

"Each week which passes means we are missing deadlines to get on the ballot" in other states for the Presidential election.

Turning to the state picture, he let loose on "payola prospects" by Davis after the election.

"Since he (Davis) was nominated, he's done everything possible to make deals.

"The DeLesseps "Chep" Morrison faction held out for two months. I figure any deal Davis has made with Morrison will cancel out any promises he made to Rainach," Courtney said.

Then he said "Earl Long said a few days ago he was going to make Jimmie Davis the best governor this state ever saw."

"I have little to say on (Republican nominee Frances) Grevemburg. He has to run on the platform in harmony with Eisenhower - Nixon.

"He left the Democratic party, so he has to embrace the Republican principals compounded of force, coercion, invasion of States Rights and old bayonettes left over from Little Rock," Courtney continued.

Ft. Polk also entered the political picture. Courtney took a swipe at the "Republicans for saying the reason we lost Ft. Polk was because we had no two - party system in this state."

"I don't believe they are right. I don't believe that states, governments, pressure groups, political parties or chambers of commerce should try to dictate to the Pentagon or the chiefs of Staff where an army post should be located in these days of international crisis."

"That should be above politics," he stressed.

Courtney said that several state legislators "have adopted our party's principles as their own personal legislative program."

"I look forward to working with them to see these principals adopted whether we win the race or not."

He denounced a "bi - partisian conspiracy of local Democrats and Republicans in New Orleans to prevent the people from expressing their choice at the polls," and said this is "exactly what happens at the national level."

The remark followed disclosures in Jefferson Parish that Louisiana's Republican national committeeman George W. Reese will conduct a public meeting today, to delve into "any inconsistencies" in the withdrawal of all Republican nominees for parish office except the candidate for parish president.

Courtney said that on a national level, in the upcoming presidential race, he "disagrees with Southern Dixiecrats who remember their success in 1948, and plan on using uncommitted, unpledged Democratic party electors" for the Democratic convention and the election.

Democratic Chairman Paul Butler "has said that any delegation coming to the Democratic nominating convention with unpledged presidential electors won't be seated at the convention unless they pledge in writing in advance that they will support any Democratic nominee," Courtney mentioned.

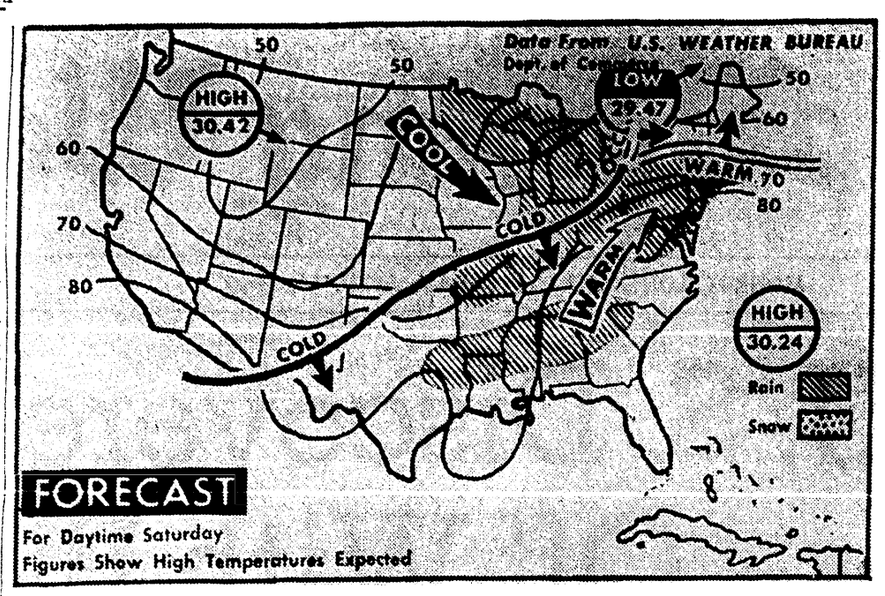
He termed Louisiana "dominated by the liberal left wing and laborite faction of the Democratic party. This group pledged their support to Davis."

"I don't expect Davis to walk out of the Convention. I expect him to lead a Butler brigade pledged to support any Democrat, including Adam Clayton Powell (Negro legislator from New York) or Eleanor Roosevelt," Courtney forecast.

"The only way an independent pro - Southern candidate can get on the ballot in Louisiana is through the States Rights ticket," he stressed.

Courtney, who received the New Orleans American Legion Americanism Award for 1959-60 for his work against Communism, called for the "Freedom of Choice Amendment", to back up the Ninth and Tenth amendments to the U. S. Constitution. He said it would guarantee public places, employers, private clubs, associations, neighborhoods and schools the right to choose who would enter the places or be employed by them.

He called for repeal of the state income tax, which he said is keeping industry out of Louisiana. He said that the $30 million received from income tax could be balanced out by firing extra "deadhead" employees hired by the state during the last four years, at an annual payroll of $36 million.



SHOWERS AND SCATTERED thunderstorms are forecast Saturday for middle Atlantic states westward through the Ohio Valley and middle Mississippi and western Great Lakes region. Showers are indicated also for the northern Gulf coast area. It will be cooler in northern Rockies, northern Plains and Great Lakes area with temperatures elsewhere remaining much like Friday's. Easter Services, Parades Are Noted enshrined to the war dead of the nation.

Continuing westward, annual outdoor services are scheduled at Bald Knob, Ill., the highest spot in the state. Worshipers from five states will participate in the services, originated 23 years ago by a mail carrier and a country parson.

A 50-foot cross of flowers and air-powered trumpets audible for 10 miles will feature a sunrise service at Arlington Park Race Track.

Starting at midnight thousands from many states are expected to begin arriving for the annual outdoor Easter pageant in the Wichita Mountains near Lawton, Okla.

At the Garden of the Gods near Colorado Springs, the Air Academy choir will participate in a sunrise service. Another will be held near Park of Red Rocks, west of Denver.

One of the most famous of California sunrise services will be held at Mt. Rubidoux, a rocky 1,337-foot high mountain near Riverside. Boy scouts and high school ROTC cadets will hold torchlights to light the way for pilgrims who make the Easter climb. Sponsors claim the event is the oldest of its kind, first starting in 1909.

3 Reasons Lead Pickets To Mansion

hoisted a sign reading "Eisenhower is anti-God." Lansing, who has been picketing the White House sporadically for nearly a year, enjoyed the added attention he got as a result of the other demonstrators.

The college youths, most of them white students from Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., carried signs reading: "we ask the President to stand up for civil rights." "No iron curtain of color." Our generation wants more than token civil rights."

The students, all men and all wearing jackets and ties, marched silently. They were under strict rules from their leaders to talk to no one, even if heckled. There was virtually no heckling.

There were also students from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.; Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

The Pacifist group protesting use of taxes to finance defense marched in front of Internal Revenue Service headquarters before moving on to the White House.

They carried signs saying: "No taxes for war." "Thou shalt not kill." "Stop the suicide race."

our air transport fleet today."

Robert E. Gross, board chairman of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which manufactures the Electra, said, "In our considered opinion, the Electra is fully safe and airworthy."

In a statement to newsmen, Hartke recalled that he visited the Indiana crash scene and said he was impressed with the thoroughness and expertness of the CAB investigators.

"If I were in Gen. Quesada's position I most certainly would take the advice of these trained men," he said, adding: "Both they and I were convinced that a structural defect was the apparent cause of the crash."

Hartke quoted Quesada as having told him that 60 per cent of the Electras now in use have been inspected by the CAB.

"Of 42 inspected planes, 36 showed cracks in a—wing—tab, but that, according to Gen Quesada, does not make them dangerous and the cracks can be repaired," Hartke said.

The CAB, whose five members called on Quesada, in his office late Thursday, declined to comment on Hartke's statement. The Federal Aviation Agency, headed by Quesada, had no immediate comment.

The FAA ordered the Electra inspections and imposed speed restrictions on the airplane after last month's Indiana crash and an earlier one near Buffalo, Tex., in which 34 persons were killed last Sept. 29.

"I learned this morning through unofficial sources that the CAB yesterday recommended to Gen. Quesada that he order uninspected prop - jet Electra airplanes grounded," Hartke said. "This has been confirmed to me by Gen. Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, and Gen. Quesada told me that he does not intend to follow this recommendation.

was determined the incident was strictly local.

He added authorities were able to determine almost everything involved in the situation.

He declined to explain further.

Mrs. Hanks said that Winnfield Negro students obtained books from her library through their instructors at the Pinecrest Negro school.

She added there were two other Negro schools in the parish which operated under the same agreement with the library.

She pointed out that policies for the library were established by a six - member parish library board.

It was learned that library officials were forewarned yesterday morning that the Negroes would appear as they did at 9:30 a.m.

Authorities did not release the names of the Negroes. They did however, say that the two boys were 16 years old, one girl 17 and the other 16.

"You are telling us . . . that one sixth of their hardware and munition inventory is chemical warfare?" Flood asked.

"That is our best belief, yes sir," Trudeau replied.

Flood said the testimony indicated that this country may have paid too little attention to Russia's progress in chemical, biological and radiological warfare in its anxiety over the "missile gap."

He asked whether it was not true that there is a "shocking, appalling, great big wide gap" in this field. Stubbs said he agreed that there was.

Disapproval Of H-Bomb Is Demonstrated

party official said about 1,000 Communists were among the marchers.

The accent was on youth. Laughing and singing teenagers marched alongside their sober - faced elders. An elderly woman hobbled behind a young couple pushing their 7-week-old infant in a baby carriage.

Banners declared: "Give up the bomb — we want to live."

About 200 persons watched silently as the marchers filed into this industrial town for the first of three overnight stops. They are sleeping in town schools.

A car suddenly cruised along - side with three riders shouting: "Keep the bomb."

Infuriated marchers broke ranks and headed for the car, but the driver put his foot down and shot away.

The State Board of Education is expected to award the contract at its April 26 meeting in Baton Rouge.

Rivers & Heuer of Monroe is architect for the dorm, which will be located on the former Touchstone property on College Avenue just west of the campus.

Bids on the women's housing unit will be opened next Tuesday and on the cafeteria next Thursday at the college.

Rivers & Heuer said the new men's dormitory would be H-shaped with three-story dormitory units on the west and east, plus a two-story central unit. The dorm will have two-man bedrooms on both sides of each wing with bathrooms in the center. This arrangement will provide a private bath between every two rooms on either side of a wing.

HOME FOR TEACHERS

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A campus-style residence home for retired school teachers is going up in nearby DeWitt.

The $750,000 facility is the first of its kind in the state. A fund-raising drive among the 75,000 members of the State Teachers Association is financing the project which will offer light housekeeping apartments or single rooms for 72 persons. The residence is expected to be completed in the spring of 1961.

Dedication Of Interstate Highway Set

The first usable section of Interstate Highway 20, between Choudrant and Ruston, will be dedicated next Saturday, according to Wayne Huckaby, district highway engineer.

At 10 a.m., the 7.41 mile stretch will be opened officially to traffic.

Huckaby said that state and highway department dignitaries will attend the ceremony at Choudrant.

The roadway is part of a coast-to-coast highway from Augusta, Ga. to Los Angeles.

"Since it is part of the national system of interstate and defense highways, we have asked the military to participate in the ceremony," Huckaby said.

Gen. George Trousdale will detail a color guard to the ceremony, and a national guard detachment will be on hand.

Ground for the road was broken in Louisiana on May 18, 1958. The district engineer termed the progress "excellent."

The highway will cross Louisiana from the Texas to Mississippi lines, and cut through Monroe.

Prior to the ceremony, Louisiana news representatives will be guests at a reception Friday night at the Holiday Inn in Monroe.

SAC Bombers To Start Runs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strategic Air Command bombers will start simulated bomb runs over two special new 400-500 mile long lanes in sparsely settled areas of the Midwest and South next month.

The Federal Aviation Agency announced Friday it has approved the two new routes, each about 20 miles wide, for bombing and navigation training by crews of eight-jet heavy B52 bombers and six-jet B47s.

Larger Locks On Ouachita Sought

WASHINGTON (Special) — A bill to provide larger locks for the projected Ouachita river nine - foot channel project has been introduced by Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long (D) La.

The measure would amend the original authorization for the project, present plans call for 400-foot locks on the river. According to estimates presented earlier to the senate and house appropriations committees, the 600 - foot locks would add about $8.4 million to the estimated $43.6 million cost of the nine - foot channel.

In addition to the authorization, supporters of the project are seeking $150,000 in appropriations for the 1961 fiscal year to start drawing of construction blueprints.

Long explained that there is always a time lag from the date of the authorization of a project and the appropriation to permit construction to start, but he said, "we are going to try to shorten that time down just as much as we possibly can."

An aide to Long said an attempt will be made to include the amended authorization in the public works omnibus bill now pending before the senate public works committee. Long will testify before the committee on behalf of the project April 26.

If the planning funds are also appropriated at this session of congress, the U. S. Army Engineers could include the new locks in the construction plans. The administration, however, has recommended against planning funds in its 1961 fiscal year budget.

'Space Age' Pony Express Goes Slower

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pony Express finally arrived Friday from St. Joseph, Mo.—without a pony.

The red-faced rider came by truck. The pony broke down and had to be left behind in Sacramento, even though more than half his journey from Salt Lake had been motorized.

When the Pony Express mail service was inaugurated 100 years ago, the relays of horses and horsemen made it to Sacramento in 10 days. The trucked-horse piggy back" operation of this space age took 11 days.

Jack Nolan, a Culver City, Calif., gunsmith who learned to ride in boyhood back in Omaha, Nebr., stepped out of a truck in San Francisco, turned over 2,500 letters to Postmaster John Fixa—and apologized about the pony.

The high altitude of the Sierras had given the pony a cold—and burned out some valves in the transporting truck.

"The horses made about 300 miles of the 760 miles from Salt Lake," Nolan said.

"But we were losing so much time that we depended more on the truck after we left Fallon, Nev."

He handed Fixa the letters along with a mochilla, a device which fits over the saddle so as to provide mail pouches.

Hiker Says Traffic Is Hinderance

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — American highways may be fine for high-speed automobiles, but they're sure tough on hikers.

So concluded Britain's walking vegetarian, Dr. Barbara Moore, as she reached California's capital city Friday after a 101-mile, three-day hike from San Francisco, mostly along U.S. Highway 40, a busy four-lane expressway.

"I have to keep my eyes on the traffic so much, I don't get to see much of the scenery," Dr. Moore told a reporter.

She prefers to walk on the smooth pavement, but this means she has to step over to the rough macadam shoulder every time a car approaches. This has happened so many times, her right foot is sore.

Another complaint about American highways: "At home, our roads are curved, but yours are so straight."

The plucky 6-year-old woman plans to stride on toward her ultimate goal — New York — after pausing briefly for a midday shower and perhaps another nibble at grass she plucked from roadside pastures.

The next two or three days of her walk will take her from sea level over 7,100-foot Donner Summit and down into Reno.

Dr. Moore, although traveling a bit slower than she expected because of the traffic and an early route mixup, still expects to overtake the two British sergeants who started a day earlier and are some 70 miles ahead.

The servicemen, Flight Sgt. Patrick Moloney of the Royal Air Force and S.Sgt. Mervyn Evans of the British army, hoped to cover 48 miles to the crest of the Sierra Nevada Friday.

Sgt. Roy Rogers, who is driving a truck pulling their camping trailer, said they are in good shape.

Mrs. Aadland Out On Bail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Florence Aadland, charged with contributing to her daughter Beverly's delinquency, got out of jail on $1,000 bail Friday after explaining to a matron:

"I've got to get home. Why, when I was gone once before, I got home to find a man taking a shower in my bathroom. He was a perfect stranger."

Earlier a judge postponed her arraignment until Monday when she appeared in court without an attorney.

Beverly, 17, last girl friend of the late movie star Errol Flynn, has been in juvenile custody since William Stanciu was fatally shot last Saturday in the Aadland apartment.

Beverly told police the 21-year-old actor was accidentally shot as they struggled nude on a bed for his revolver.

The district attorney issued a complaint against the mother Thursday after viewing pictures of a wild party at the apartment shared by mother and daughter.

The photos, taken by a guest, show Beverly in a pajama top and her mother in flowered pajamas in lurid poses with Stanciu and another young male guest.

A prosecutor said Friday there are still more pictures. He said they were taken by the same man, Bob Profeta, who supplied authorities with the photographs that resulted in Mrs. Adland's arrest.

The prosecutor told newsmen that Profeta ran out of film at the party, went to a drugstore, bought a new roll and returned to the apartment to snap more pictures.

Mrs. Aadland is charged with allowing Beverly to drink, appearing intoxicated in her daughter's presence, occupying a bed with a man in Beverly's presence, permitting Beverly to occupy a bed with a man, and exercising so little supervision that Beverly was left alone for six days while the mother was in a hospital. That's when the shooting occurred.

Led off to jail Thursday in a flowered shirt and gray slacks, Mrs. Aadland yelled curses and vulgarities and declared angrily: "I haven't done nothing—I'll sue for false arrest.

"I was sick at the time—of the picture-taking—and almost unconscious because of the pills I was taking. Those pictures were staged."

Heiress, Husband Honeymoon

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Nineteen-year-old heiress Gamble Benedict and Andre Porumbeanu, for whom she may have run out on the Remington typewriter fortune, contained a carefree honeymoon Friday from a plush French Quarter motor hotel.

They smiled at the possibility of Gamble's being disinherited over their elopment, culumination of a stormy romance spanning courts and continents.

They scoffed at the prospect of being arrested on returning to New York, where they plan a church ceremony at St. James Episcopal Church to follow up a runaway civil ceremony April 6 at Hendersonville, N.C.

The newlyweds talked cheerfully about Porumbeanu taking a job in Florida. But it was not clear just what or where his work would be.

A Miami Beach hotel owner said he had offered the 35-year-old Porumbeanu a job as assistant manager, starting next Wednesday. The offer and Porumbeanu's acceptance were handled through a mutual friend, the hotel man said.

Porumbeanu said here, however he will be public relations director for a Florida hotel chain starting next week. He said he and Gamble will go to Miami, where they will stay "until we see what develops."

New York authorities may be at the head of the reception committee should be blissful couple return there. Porumbeanu violated a court order to stay away from the heiress. A warrant also was issued for her arrest as a wayward minor the day she disappeared.

The power behind the legal harassments of their union is Gamble's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Harper Benedict, who controls the Remington fortune and could disinherit her granddaughter.

"I imagine she's pretty annoyed with me and it's (disinheritance) quite possible," said the attractive teenage bride.

"She was completely misinformed and misled by her lawyers," Porumbeanu said. "She could have spared herself a great deal of melodrama and money devoted to trying to prevent our marriage. They were of no effect."

"Grammie didn't understand," Gamble added.

Porumbeanu said they hoped grandmother Benedict would attend their New York wedding. "I don't like arguing or quarrelling with anyone," he said.

TAKE IT WITH A SMILE

AUSTIN, Tex., (UPI) — It is all right to smile, the Sweetheart Election Commission at the University of Texas said, but active campaigning is taboo.

The commission warned candidates that no campaigning "other than speaking to personal friends will be allowed regardless of the distance from the polls."

AREA PARISH

Highest U.S. Weevil Count Is In Madison

WASHINGTON (Special) —The nation's highest boll weevil count has been reported in Madison Parish, La. The Agriculture Department said Friday.

The department's insect experts reported finding 4,748 weevils per acre in the northeast Louisiana parish, the highest in the 24 years during which records have been kept.

The winter survival rate in the northeast Louisiana cotton section was 98 per cent, compared with only 6.67 per cent in the north Delta country of Mississippi.

Last year, only 2,246 weevils per acre were found in Madison parish.

The weevil count was based on examination of samples of wood trash from selected locations near cotton fields. Scientists heat the trash samples and the weevils respond to this "false spring" by moving. The number per acre is then calculated from the number in the sample.

The department noted that early spring weather has an important effect on the number of the weevils who survive to fed on the cotton crop and produce a new generation.

At Tallulah, Madison Parish county agent Max McDonald cautioned cotton farmers to "pay more attention to boll weevils than usual" this year, noting that the weather in the summer months will be the determining factor on whether or not the problem will be serious.

THROW-AWAY MILK BOTTLES

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of competition from metal, paper and plastics makers, the familiar glass milk bottle may soon be replaced by cheaper throw-away glass bottles similar to those used for beer and some other beverages, reports "Modern Packaging" magazine.

Glass container manufacturers, the magazine says, are intensifying research to overcome the inroads of other materials, which in the last five years have taken a 15 per cent bite of the milk container field.

Two Stars Married In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former child actor Dean Stockwell and Millie Perkins, star of "The Diary of Anne Frank," were married here Friday.

They stopped at the Gretna Green Wedding Chapel soon after obtaining a license. They had no attendants. The Rev. Allen Robertson of the Church of Christ married them in a brief ceremony and they left quickly by car.

The young couple wouldn't say where they would go on their honeymoon.

Stockwell is 24, Miss Perkins is 23. She wore a white blouse and a black skirt and he a dark suit and sports shirt.

"They looked just like two very young children," said an official of the chapel.

It was the first marriage for each. The young actor grew from a child actor of the late 40s to a promising leading man in recent TV, stage and film roles.

Stockwell is due in New York next Thursday for one day's additional shooting on a picture, "Sons and Lovers." He and Miss Perkins are under contract to 20th Century-Fox.

Stockwell, born in Hollywood, got his start as a child performer on the stage and in radio.

Monroyan Is Questioned In Man's Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (Special) —Guy Huffty, 46, of Monroe, was arrested here yesterday for questioning in the death of a 41-year old Alabama transient.

Arrested with Huffty was Ralph Hurst, 36, of Memphis, Tenn. Both men denied participation.

The victim, identified as Grover Lee Payton, 41, of Houston, was found dead yesterday in a boxcar at the Texas and Pacific Railway switching yards. His throat had been slashed.

Huffty, whose clothing was spattered with blood, told officers that he and the other two men rode to Fort Worth from Houston Thursday night on a freight train.

Sometime during the ride, he said, Payton was hurt. He maintained, however, that he didn't know what had happened to Payton.

According to Huffty, there were several other men in the boxcar during part of the trip.

Hurst was reportedly too intoxicated to be questioned.

Officers said Payton suffered a severe gash on the neck, from which he apparently bled to death. Broken pieces of a wine bottle were found in the boxcar.

When arrested, Huffty had cuts on both hands. He said he received the cuts when he jumped from the car.

Huffty also said he had walked off from the Houston "pea-patch" Municipal Prison Farm Wednesday.

No charges had been filed last night, but detectives said Huffty and Hurst would be held for questioning.

The states claim the title of the "Switzerland of America." They are West Virginia and New Hampshire.

Season For Bites

Now that spring is here, with its wondrous beauty and alurements, there are many creatures, large and tiny, which are waiting to bite the hapless members of humanity who may come within range.

Fortunately, according to Dr. Warren H. Cole of Chicago, most of these bites are less serious than generally supposed. All the way from dogs to snakes and spiders, the danger may be over-emphasized, although it is always wise to take precautions. The dog is feared for his bite but the cat's bite is more serious, says Dr. Warren, a University of Illinois surgeon.

Bacteria in the cat's mouth are more likely to produce disease and the bite is less penetrating and less tearing, thus providing poorer drainage.

In both dogs and cats, there is danger of hydrophobia. Cat bites occur less frequently but fortunately relatively few dogs inflicting bites are rabid. If the animal is a pet dog that is nortoriously cross and is being teased or tantilized, there should be little fear of rabies, in the opinion of Dr. Cole. If the dog is a stranger in the neighborhood and is not properly equipped with a vaccination tag, the utmost precaution should be exercised because the rabid dog in a biting mood is extremely restless and nervous and wanders far and wide. He seldom pays much attention to anything but will bite any person or animal that crosses his path.

Discussing snake bites, Dr. Cole said there are only four types of poisonous snakes in the United States — the rattlesnake, copperhead, cottonmouth moccasin and coral snake.

In reality, the seriousness of snakebites is greatly exaggerated. Not more than 15 to 20 per cent of adults bitten by rattlesnakes would die, even if untreated. In children, however, the percentage rises sharply. Naturally, no one wants to take a 15 per cent chance on losing his life if bitten by a rattlesnake and the only sensible thing to do is to get the quickest, most effective treatment possible.

Most common of the serious insect bites is that of the black widow spider, identified by the hourglass-shaped red spot on its underside. Some years ago a black widow spider scare occurred in the Monroe area, as well as in other parts of the country, as the spiders appeared literally in swarms and in practically every nook and cranny. Yet, as far as was known, no one was seriously bitten and no one died in this area. Even when the black widow spider does bite the bites are seldom fatal. This spider will bite, as a rule, only when pushed to the limit. In fact, there are some who will bet you can't make this spider bite. Yet they do, sometimes.

Ant bites and chigger bites also often come with the springtime but usually they are only nuisances. Sometimes, the fire ant bite, in large numbers, might prove dangerous. Mosquitoes and sandflies also usually come in the nuisance class.

Because of all these nipping creatures, there are some people who are afraid to venture out into the woods and fields but their fears are largly unfounded. Serious results from bites are so rare that the odds against them in a calculated risk are tremendous. In reality, more serious accidents occur in the homes than as the result of bites, so those who like the big outdoors can go into the open without any fear that they will regret it.

'Degree Mill' Racket

The seeking of college degrees has apparently reached a point where the demand has reached far beyond the ligitimate supply.

Throughout the civilized world, a degree from an accredited college or university has had a meaning all its own for hundreds of years. The diploma itself is representative of several years of intensive study and testing under close supervision by qualified professors.

Now comes an unusually heavy run on the facilities of higher education and agencies have set up to award degrees which are available "for a price." The United States Office of Education has listed 30 such institutions now defrauding the public by peddling mail order degrees.

Perhaps, there was a time when possession of a real degree meant little because there were more of them floating around whose owners had no place to go in the job seeking world. While there are still some degrees which do little good to a person's economic well being, for the most part they are of great importance to the bearer.

Evidence of this lies in the 30 or more "degree mills" set up in nine states, according to the office's report, which offer a variety of degrees at prices running from "free will" donations to about $500.

If there is a teacher shortage of any description, there might be added to that figure the number of mail order schools which are awarding "religious degrees."

Secretary Arthur S. Fleming of the Office of Education noted many of the degree mills purport to award such degrees and said a conference will be held in the near future with religious leaders to discuss what can be done about that problem.

It is true that the many bona-fide theological seminaries are not turning out graduates at the rate needed to fill the needs of a population which in recent years has turned heavily to churchgoing. But this is all the more reason that "degree mills" should be weeded out of this highly important field.

Another by-product of the education pressure are professional "ghost writers," who prepare anything from a freshman English theme to a thesis or dissertation for an advanced degree. In New York, a school teacher and five other persons were arrested early this week on charges of writing term papers and theses for students who were willing to pay the necessary $59 to $3,000.

This is another example of the tactics some persons will stoop to when demands and pressures begin to exceed the supply. Training and education cannot be effectively short-circuited by eliminating the work involved. "Degree mills" and "ghost-written" term papers and theses should be cleaned out of the picture with the full understanding that degrees and diplomas have no meaning other than the work and effort which make up the proper reuirements.

Kohlberg Find Startling

Infiltration Of Communists Into Organizations With High-Sounding Names Brought Into Open

Alfred Kohlberg was an American merchant who traded with Nationalist China. His specialty was textiles. His business grew to fair dimensions and he joined the various organizations which concerned themselves with Far Eastern affairs. Among others he joined the Institute of Pacific Relations and found therein something which contradicted his experience. He was not particularly interested in politics and his discoveries surprised him, for he had heretofore respected great names.

He thereupon set out to investigate the Institute of Pacific Relations not knowing especially what he would find. This one event set off a whole series of congressional investigations including those of the McCarran committee and the McCarthy committee. Kohlberg had stumbled on a truth, which rarely happens to any of us. He found that many public organizations of the American people, private organizations with high-sounding names and headed by distinguished men, were infiltrated by Communists, on the administrative level, who formed each organization's policies and determined its goals. Kohlberg took up the fight and never stopped until he died last week.

Naturally Kohlberg was called many ugly names. These he accepted as labels of distinction, but the one that pleased him most was "China Lobby." He proclaimed himself to be the "China Lobby," and challenged all and sundry to investigate him. I do not know how many thousands of dollars of his own money Kohlberg spent advertising himself as the "China Lobby" and demanding an investigation. A man of means and integrity, he, of course, would not have accepted a cent from Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung or anyone else to support his opinions. He was a man of strong convictions with enough cash on hand to back them up.

A merchant, not a scholar, he was without any interest in the sectarian attitudes of the various anti-communists. He was really not so much a doctrinaire anti-Communist as he was pro-American. He did not split the fine hairs of definitions; it was sufficient for him that he had witnessed what the Communists did to China and he did not want them to do the same to the United States. For Kohlberg, it was sufficient that he regarded the Communists as indecent and profane.

A Jew, he organized the American Jewish League Against Communism. He insisted that he could not understand how a Jew could possibly be a Communist or sympathetic to communism. He expected the entire Jewish people to rally to his organization. They did not.

This disappointed Kohlberg but until the moment he died, he continued to finance various organizations and groups in the battle against Soviet Russia. He must have spent a fortune of money; he gave of his health and even after he had had several coronary failures, he kept his work going. He retired from his business but he never retired from the cause which he had made his. He was a little David fighting a world of Goliaths and he fought well.

Where does the moral strength come from which transforms a merchant into a battling leader of men in a cause to which many devote their lives? Kohlberg reminded one of the prophets of old, the men who feared not the mighty, who rejected power, who never considered themselves. No great orator, no powerful writer, no organizer of movements, a man with a delightful sense of humor, whose wit led him into many arid fields, Kohlberg, with a profound sense of justice, developed an enormous and significant following of men and women, some publicly important in their own right, who turned to him for counsel and advice.

And it is one of those peculiarities of life that many who hated him as a fanatic who destroyed their short-cuts to the truth, in his last years recognized the intuitive patriotism of Kohlberg. He knew no divided loyalties. The United States was his country; he rejected affinity for any other. If he labored for Nationalist China, it was because he believed that was best for the United States.

Doctor Worries

Inability To Help May Frustrate Him As Much As Patient

Having been on the front lines of practice for over a quarter century, I know first - hand the daily tribulations of the doctor.

Forgetting about the irregular hours and warmed over meals, the lack of sleep and relaxation—there is one great frustration that often gets him down. That is his inability to help all patients who come to him to lift a burden from their lives.

People say that we doctors get "hardened." Don't believe it. The years wear us down. Human misery and unhappiness makes us "soft" rather than "hard."

For example, consider the following letter. I wish I knew how really to advise this patient instead of feeding her pablum.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Aren't any of the old nerve remedies that were prescribed some 20 years ago ever used by the present medical doctors? I once had neurophosphates prescribed. I think it helped.

* * *

I can't take the present day phenobarbital which only makes me dopy and does not help my nervous condition. I threw it out and told the doctor that he would have to give me something different.

Now, whenever a doctor mentions a sedative I say no, if that is all he can do for me. Either I get dopy or sleepy, or both.

My head bothers me enough when my nerves are on edge due to tenseness. The trouble is I just can't forget, and day and night my mind keeps mulling over my problems and the family's problems. I feel a pressure on top of my head.

When my husband died suddenly due to strep menigitis in 1935, day and night I could not get his sufferings off my mind for years. If I hadn't got a job I believe I would have lost my mind. I just can't stop thinking and my hands tremble badly. I can't eat a thing for days at a time.

I'm now nearly 77. There are times when I can't contain myself. Seems to me medical science should come up with something besides a sedative. Even that does not stop the wheels in my head from revolving.

I'm too old to get a job. Besides, my arthritis would not let me hold one. I walked into a store the other day, sat down a while. When I got up my knee locked and began to stiffen. With help I got to the lounge, and limped home several hours later.

—Mrs. S. Detroit.

Comment: Ask your doctor to refer you to a good geriatrician. At last we doctors have become intensely aware of the special needs of patients who reach the seventies — and over. I agree with you. I think you need more than a "tonic" or "sedative."

For Mrs. B., Falls Church, Va.: Your trouble in "getting a deep and satisfying intake of breath" is not shortness of breath as we doctors understand it. It is not like that due to heart failure, etc. This "difficulty in breathing" you speak of is usually due to nervous tension. We call it "hyperventilation."

To Mrs. C., Kansas City, a 23-year-old mother: Varicose veins are a universal problem. Some require immediate care; others can wait. You wrote that your doctor said: "Come back in about 10 years. To do anything now would be throwing your money away."

Be thankful you have that kind of a doctor. He won't allow himself to be coerced into doing something against his good judgment.

Nervous? Tense? Write to me c-o this paper for my leaflet "How to Overcome Tension and Fatigue." Enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Daily Devotional

Peter followed Him afar off unto the high priest's palace and went in with the servants. — Matthew 26:8.

* * *

Tomorrow is Easter Sunday and our places of worship will be overflowing. Some of these worshipers may have been following Christ "afar off", and Easter could well be a time of repentance and rededication for them, as it was for Peter after his backsliding and denial of Christ. What more appropriate time for Christian revival than when the earth is reawakening and the magic of spring and nature's resurrection is at hand as a reminder that we still have a risen and living Lord?

* * *

Merciul God, lead us to accept the salvation provided by Hhy Son and to rededicate our lives to Thy work. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Fantastic Navy

Huge Sums Sought To Convert Vessels To Missile-Carriers

The Navy is asking Congress for fantastic amounts of money to convert certain vessels to missile - carriers. The reason, as recently - revealed closed - door testimony claimed, is simple: survival.

"Mobility," Vice - Admiral J. T. Hayward told a House committee, "is the key to survival."

The admiral was among several who recently asked Congress for astounding sums to carry out what the Navy terms its Fleet Ballistic Missile Program. Much of what was said before the committee remains secret, but some can be told.

It appears that the heavy cruiser Columbus, which originally cost $36 million, is to undergo a conversion job that will cost $93 million. A further conversion will cost $49 million.

It will be the first of a number of similar craft distined for use as guided - missile carriers.

The Navy is also planning to press merchant - type vessels into use as missile - carriers. An example of the cost of conversion of a single victory ship is: original cost of vessel, $10 million; conversion cost, $76 million.

The Navy feels that after the original cruiser conversion is completed, subsequent jobs will drop to $37 million per ship; for Victory ships they will drop to $58 million.

The program is a vast one, destined to irrevocably change the face of the Navy. It would take the Navy into the era of Polaris, Talos and Tartar, words soon to become as nautically familiar as fore and aft.

Talos and Tartar, anti - aircraft missiles, would be the Navy's defense; its punch would be in the longer - range Polaris, with a nuclear warhead capability.

From this it is now clear that Naval planners are considering the use of surface vessels equally with submarines as guided - missile launching platforms.

Thinking behind this is graphically revealed by hitherto secret testimony on behalf of money requests to Congress. It shows Navy skepticism over the effectiveness of the Atlas as a warhead delivery means for years into the future.

Admiral Hayward told Congressmen that the "fixed - base" missile (i. e. Atlas) was an invitation to disaster; only mobile missile bases could escape enemy attack.

"With ... fixed bases you are asking for it," he said. "The ballistic missile is going to get it. If he (the enemy) puts a five - megaton warhead on that thing, I do not care whether there is 150 feet of concrete on it. It will not make a particle of difference."

He also dismissed notions that a nuclear warhead on a ship - delivered Polaries missile would only be effective against an enemy's missile bases.

You are really going to kill people," he said. "In Hiroshima, on which I did the study, we dropped a 13 - kiloton bomb; 250,000 people lived in Hiroshima; 70,000 fatalities; 140,000 casualties total."

* * *

He added: "Now, people talk, well they sort of look down their nose at a warhead. God help me. I do not want to be around."

He also told the committee: "The idea that you have to have a (nuclear) warhead on this (Polaris) system I do not think is valid." He also argued for Polaris against the Air Force's Titan program.

In short, the Navy is pleading for the nation to base its defense and deterrent power on the wide oceans that surround it. It wants to create a vast fleet of both undersea and surface vessels designed for one purpose: guided missile delivery.

Naval gunnery and aircraft would become virtually obsolete; a sailor would distinguish himself by proficiency at electronics.

Cool For Nixon

Many Potential Supporters Disappointed By Rockefeller

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is resigned to the probability that he will enter the Republican convention at Chicago on July 2 as the only candidate for nomination, surrounded by a perceptible coolness among the GOP delegates.

Unless the preceding Democratic convention at Los Angeles has split wide open, which is now believed unlikely, there will be a perceptible doubt whether he can be elected. That uncertainly will not be as wide as the feeling in 1952 that Senator Robert A. Taft could not win if nominated, but it may put a damper on the enthusiasm of those assembled in the International amphitheater adjoining Chicago's stockyards.

This attitude will be based, Nixon's friends expect, on the mediocre showings he is likely to make in states where he is on the ballots in primary elections. But hovering over the Republican gathering also will be the spectral image of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Whether he will be there in person has not been determined, but the image is sure to be.

No similar situation has existed at a party convention in many years. Rockefeller's withdrawal from any contest with Nixon back in December disappointed many potential supporters, and his continued coolness toward Nixon does not augur well for an argument between them, according to reports from New York observers.

They believe there is positively no chance for a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket, as the governor himself has indicated. Their expectation is that the two may get together afterward, as Eisenhower and Taft did at the historic Morningside Heights conference in September, 1952, several weeks after the general had defeated his rival. But the meeting will probably be at Nixon's request, and he may have to make significant concessions, as did Eisenhower, to bring about an outward unification of the Republican party for the fall campaign.

Why this should be will mystify many voters, particularly those who regard Nixon as the heir of most of the Eisenhower political strength. But it is not too difficult to understand. Nixon at the moment is far short of inheriting all of that strength, because the President, from the start had the support of millions of Democrats and independents who are not similarly attracted to Nixon.

That, rather than his unimpressive showing in state primaries, is Nixon's weakness today. It is well understood in the Nixon camp. His advisers believe that he will gain some in polls before the conventions as rivalry among Democratic prospects increases, but they admit that he is not exhibiting the strength with which he was credited two months ago.

There is ample precedent for this in national politics, for the man without a contest finds it hard to hold popular interest. Even President Truman, who is Nixon's bitterest enemy now, experienced such an attitude in his party before the 1948 Democratic convention. But there the mecurial Missourian, then at his low ebb, loosed a blast which started him in orbit again.

Americans love a fight, and their feeling, even if only subconscious, is that Nixon had something to do with blocking off Rockefeller in the projected contest for the GOP nomination.

However, the truth seems to be that Nixon was too well prepared, and that Rockefeller soon became convinced that he would have only very minor support among state organiations.

Many state organization leaders still question Rockefeller's Republicanism, just as they questioned Eisenhower's up to a year before his nomination as the Republican candidate. But Eisenhower was a world famous general who had established himself as equally conspicuous in his efforts for world peace.

Rockefeller had served briefly as Assistant Secretary of State under Franklin D. Roosevelt, and while Nixon was on active duty as a naval officer, had been coordinator for Inter - American Affairs as a Roosevelt appointee.

From the Republican standpoint the governor's position recalls an incident while he was co-ordinator, when he took three of his office staff to lunch at a well-known Washington restaurant. When the check came, Rockefeller confessed he had no money. Nor did his guests have enough to pay it. So they called the proprietor and explained their difficulty.

"And this is Nelson Rockefeller," they explained, as their chief nodded. The boss man gave him a hard stare, obviously unimpressed.

"I never heard of you," he said, and stalked away.

249 Homestead Exemptions Are Left Unsigned

Only 249 homestead exemptions were left unsigned when the 5 p.m. deadline rolled past yesterday at the Ouachita Parish Tax Assessor's office.

Bert Coverdale, assessor, said that approximately 17,225 homestead exemptions were signed, 200 of them new in 1960.

Of those unsigned, he said that 200 were in Monroe and 49 in West Monroe.

"At least 50 per cent of those who didn't sign were inelibigle. Either they had moved, died or do not live in the house. State law provides you must own the house and reside in it to claim the exemption," Coverdale explained.

The homestead signing gives the home owner a $2,000 exemption on state and parish taxes.

Madonna's Tears Are Unexplained

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., (UPI) — There is a tiny, distinct droplet of crystal liquid, smaller than a pinhead, on the lower lid of the right eye of a lithograph print of the Virgin Mary which rests this Good Friday on the altar of St. Paul's Greek Orthrodox Church.

The left eye of the print is wet with a moisture which has smeared the glass above it because the lithograph has been pressed against the glass. It looks something like the condensation that forms inside an automobile windshield on a muggy day.

Thos are the indisputable physical facts behind the mystery of the "Weeping Madonna" which has brought thousands flocking to the church to kiss the glass cover and acknowledge what the Rev. George Papadeas believes is a "divine manifestation."

The lithograph, an icon of the Greek church, was brought here in 1938 from Greece by an elderly woman who bought it among hundreds on sale in a monastery. It is printed in soft browns, yellows, blues and red with ink made in Germany on six by nine - inch coated paper with a thin cardboard back.

It has been taken twice out of the glass and frame since the "tears" began appearing last Wednesday.

Mrs. Antonia Koulis, wife of a cashier in a Long Island restaurant, called Father Papadeas to her home when she saw the moisture welling from the eyes and running down the picture.

WITH CORCORAN

FPC Official Comments On Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Power Commission Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall said Friday he isn't sure, but he may have talked privately with Thomas (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran about a third natural gas case before it was decided.

Kuykendall told a newsman it was entirely possible the lawyer, a onetime big wheel in the New Deal, may have spoken to him about a pipeline application filed by a subsidiary of the Tennessee Natural Gas Co. which Corcoran represented.

But the FPC chairman added in apparent haste that if Corcoran did talk with him privately in this instance it was to plead for faster action "and not to discuss the merits of the case."

"I can't recall specifically whether it was he or someone else from the same company," Kuykendall said.

In the case at issue, four competing companies asked the FPC for authority to build a pipeline with which to import natural gas from Canada. One of the four was Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. a subsidiary of Tennessee Gas.

Last Oct. 31, the FPC rejected all four applications for technical reasons. The commission suggested the companies file new requests.

Kuykendall and other members of the FPC are at the center of a growing investigation by the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee of the extent to which lawyers and other officials of gas companies go behind the scenes to push their interests with the Power Commission.

The whole thing was given impetus by Kuykendall's admission to the subcommittee last month that he had had informal talks with Corcoran last autumn on the rate of return to be allowed Midwestern on still another pipeline to Canada.

Then, earlier this week, Kuykendall acknowledged he could possibly have had off-the-record conversations with Corcoran last spring about the rates Midwestern would be allowed to pay and charge for natural gas piped from the South to the Chicago-Gary, Ind., area.

Other FPC commissioners were not available immediately for newsmen's questions about whether they were contacted by Corcoran in the third case involving Midwestern.

North Carolina State lost nine football games last season but five of the losses were by five points or less.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

TIRED MOTHERS

Most young mothers have all the reason in the world to be tired. They complain that the days are too short, the children too frisky, and the demands on their time too great. But they survive and, after becoming grandmothers, are likely to long for the good old days when they were "O, so weary but enthusiastic and hardworking."

The housewife with ordinary energy works 16 hours a day, seven days a week. She is on the go all the time despite labor saving devices. A vacation means doing the same thing except at a different place. The more energetic mother does the same work but widens her scope of activities to include P.-T. A., church work, health drives, and being a den mother. Raising a litter of pups along the line, usually as a subtle method of teaching sex to the children.

Dr. Leonard L. Lovshin of Cleveland noted that the more worrisome, tense, and overly conscientious mothers are likely to fret and complain about fatigue, especially when they cannot keep up with their work. They become irritable and confused and develop nervous symptoms. Many believe a major disease exists. The majority cannot be convinced that their fatigue stems from too much work and responsibility; they prefer a diagnosis of anemia, low blood pressure, low metabolism, or "female trouble."

Vitamin shots, liver, and iron help temporarily, as do nerve pills, tonics, and tranquilizers. Some make progress when they correct bad habits such as overindulgence in coffee, tea, alcohol, or tobacco. Sometimes a reducing regimen fills the bill. These women also provide a great market for patent medicines that promise pep and energy.

Much can be done to relieve the burdens of a housewife if the husband will cooperate and the family decides to stress the important things of life and not waste energy on the minor irritations and superficialities.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

HEART DISEASE AND PREGNANCY

Mrs. F. H. writes: Can a woman with a rapid pulse due to rheumatic fever safely bear a child?

REPLY

A specific reply to a question of this type cannot be made without a thorough examination. Most women with this kind of heart trouble can go through pregnancy safely. Those without symptoms do better than women who are short of breath or dropsical.

DO-IT-YOURSELFER

D. F. writes: Can a layman purchase a blood pressure instrument so he could take his own pressure every day?

REPLY

Yes, but taking your pressure every day will not change the reading or make you any happier. If anything it will make you more neurotic, especially if you are unduly anxious as you use the instrument.

DEFECTIVE VALVE

C. D. writes: Can mitral stenosis occur in a person who never had rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Yes, as a developmental defect before birth. On the other hand, atypical forms of rheumatic fever occur and the disorder may be overlooked. Years later, when a leaky valve is detected, the patient swears up and down he never had rheumatic fever.

INFLAMED VEIN

F. L. writes: How long does swelling due to phlebitis remain?

REPLY

Until new channels develop to take over the work of the obstructed vein: this may require months or years. Send a stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet on phlebitis.

HEAVEN IN MY HAND

By Shirley Pollock

Grove City, Pennsylvania

I was ironing in the kitchen the other morning and half-listening to one of those television programs where children give bright answers to puzzling questions, when suddenly one question caught my attention.

"What do you think heaven is like?" the master of ceremonies asked. The children's replies were as stimulating as a cold shower.

"Heaven is another world where God gives you pennies and candy," a five-year-old girl explained.

"It's a green pasture with cows and pigs," a small boy announced with enviable certainty in his deep voice.

"Well . . ." drawled another lad, "I think heaven is a lot of clouds . . . with a ladder going up."

BACK TO EARTH

The timer on my stove called me back to earth and to the roast I was basting. But as I returned to my ironing I asked myself, all right, what is heaven like?

Certainly those youngsters were not alone in their interpretations. But could I go along with their "pie in the sky by and by" routine?

Then I remembered a lovely little book I had once owned called "Heaven In My Hand." I had loaned it — and lost it, but I could still see the blue cover and the preface in which the school teacher author had explained that the second - graders whom she had guided through the years had placed "heaven in her hand."

Each chapter was a delicate word sketch about one of those children. A dirty little fellow with clutched fists that held sticky, melted, jelly beans for the teacher. A flaxen - haired child who always lisped, "I'll see you tomorning." A dozen others.

A RELATIONSHIP

That sensitive teacher had experienced heaven right here and now. To her, heaven, was a relationship. That, I thought, was the kind of heaven I could appreciate, for didn't I have heaven in my hands, too?

How many times had I experienced bits of heaven here on earth? Treasured memories, half-forgotten, erupted like a geyser from my subconscious as I ironed.

I remembered the time Nancy dropped her toy and four-year-old Bonnie retrieved the squeaky rubber duck and placed it gently in the baby's hand again. Then with a preview look of maternal love on her chubby face, Bonnie said reverently, "Nancy is saying 'thank you' with her eyes." Heaven in my hand.

My heart skipped a beat when I recalled the night Daddy left for overseas duty. He had called our oldest daughter to his side and asked her tenderly if she would pray for him while he was gone. Sue was four. But she took the request seriously.

A NIGHTLY PRAYER

The incident was so fixed in my life by the nightly prayer she offered for the next 19 months, that I wrote her exact words into a little verse —

"The night you left, you asked our Sue
"If she would pray each night for you,
"And solemnly, with steady eye,
"She said, 'I will,' and then, 'Goodbye.'
"Each night she kneels beside her bed,
"And folds her hands and bows her head.
"Her words are always simply these:
"Hang onto Daddy for us, please!"

Daddy's farewell and Sue's nightly petition were bits of heaven in my hand during a very trying time.

Then I thought of Debby Joy, our seven-year-old. We named her well. Just this week, as she kissed me goodbye before leaving for school, she tossed this sage advice at me, "Have a happy morning, Mommie!"

REFRESHING

And as I was thinking how refreshing and soul-stirring it is to be with Debby, I remembered the time we were vacationing at Yellowstone one summer.

"I wish I were a little brown cub," she whispered when a mother bear ushered her two cubs past our cabin door.

Again, watching the trout leap from the water at Fishing Bridge, she sang out, "I wish I were a fish! I wish I were the moon! Mommie," she said ecstatically, "I wish I were everything!" And I kissed her, because I sensed her urgency to be part of all that is good and beautiful.

Memories of other touches of the infinite raced back to me that morning in the kitchen. All alone, with a basket of dampened clothes beside me, I held heaven in my hand.

Russian-Built Autos Due In U. S. Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — The first volume shipment of Soviet-built automobiles will arrive in the United States next month, importer Robert J. Castle of Syracuse, N.Y., said today.

The car is the four-cylinder Moskvich which will carry a New York port of entry price of $1,500. Delivered in New York the car, slightly larger than most European imports but a shade smaller than domestic compacts, will cost about $1,620 including taxes.

The Moskvich is one of the 311 models from 86 manufacturers which will be displayed at the International Auto Show opening here Saturday. Its styling is somewhat similar to the Fords of the early 50s and the show models come complete with the Soviet red star as a radiator ornament.

"I had quite an argument with the Russians to persuade them to take the red star off the models they ship me for sale," Castle said. "I finally told them we didn't put the American flag on our Fords."

Another new foreign car was introduced here Thursday, the Toyopet Tiara from Japan. Toyopet has been in the American market for two years with a larger car but the Tiara is sized and priced with Volkswagen and Renault.

Howard Lane, eastern distributor for Toyopet, said volume shipments of the Tiara will begin in August.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Sime Qualifies For Olympic Test

By ED CORRIGAN

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Big Dave Sime—who holds two world records but never has won a national title or competed in the Olympics—started the long road back Friday by clearing the first obstacle on the road to Rome in the Quantico Relays.

Sime, a Duke pre-med student, won his heat in the 100-meter dash in 10:4 which equals the qualifying standards for the Olympics. The 100 final is Saturday.

This was the first Eastern outdoor meet of the season and for the first time since it was started in 1956, the sun shone down on this big Marine base.

For Sime, it was a big test. Although he holds the world record for both the 220-yard and 2000 meter dashes (both 20 seconds flat), he has been plagued by a series of leg ailments all through his career. A muscle pull kept him out of the 1956 Olympic trials and every time he came up for a national championship he was out of shape.

"But I hope that's all behind me," he said. "I felt great and hope I feel as good when the Olympic trials are held in a couple of months."

Not to be outdone by Sime, Josh Culbreath, the 27-year-old timber topper, qualified for the Olympics trials too, with a 51.3 winning clocking in the 400-meter hurdles.

The qualifying standard for the 400-meter hurdles is 5.22 Culbreath had to turn on the heat in the final strides to nose out Lawson Smith of Morgan State College, who also did 51.3. Lawson also qualified.

Cutbreak's effort was one of six meet records broken on opening day. The former mark in the 400-meter hurdles was 51.8 set by Glenn Davis in 1958.

Manhattan's sprint medley relay team of Ron Colino, Kye Courtney, John Fernandez and Art Evans hit the tape in 3:34.1, shaving the listed record of 3:34.3 set by Penn last year.

Bob Barksdale of Fort Lee, Va., went 6 feet, 6 inches in the high jump to erase the meet record of 6-4 set by several jumpers.

Ten other records were in relays. The Baltimore Olympic Club 4-mile team of Glynn Wood, Frank Pflaging, Bryant Wood and Tom Rodda, got home in 17:17.7, breaking Penn State's standard of 17:29.4 set last year.

The 440-yard relay record was torn to pieces in the heats and the final won't be held until Saturday. First Morgan State crossed the line in 41.9, chopping two-tenths of a second off the mark.

Less than five minutes later, North Carolina College, with Bob Dobbs, Lou Seaton, Walter Johnson and Vance Robinson, pushed it down to 41.7.

The same team—with Joe Goodwater replacing Seaton, zipped to a 1:25.4 effort in the half-mile relay, taking a healthy cut out of the meet record of 1:27.5 set by Winston-Salem last year.

Other winners were Duke in the distance medley (10:02.2), Stew Thomson of the New York A.C. in the discus (164-5½), Al Hall of the New York A.C. in the hammer (192-5) Bob O'Brien of Manhattan College in the broad jump (23-6) and Mike Caraftis of the New York A.C. in the half-mile (1:51.2).

Alex Breckenridge broke the record for the 10,000 meters when he was caught in 30:54.5. Fred Kerr of Penn State set the standard of 32.39.2.

Perez Heavy Favorite To Retain Title

BANGKOK (AP) — World flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina is heavily favored to retain his title Saturday night against Thailand's Pone Kingpetch in a match that is expected to draw 30,000 fans.

"I'm going all out for a knockout," said the 34-year-old champion who has been fighting as a pro since 1952. "I'll definitely win."

Perez will be making the 11th defense of the title he won in 1954 by outpointing Yoshio Shirai of Japan in Tokyo. In six other so-called non-title bouts in Buenos Aires, his title actually was at stake because he and his opponents were under the 112-pound class limit.

The champion is a little man with a big punch. He has knocked out 36 while compiling a 52-1-1 pro record since winning the Olympic title in 1948. In his last defense, Nov. 5, he scored a 13th round knockout over Sadao Yaoita of Japan. Yaoita had handed Perez the only defeat of his career in an over-the-weight match in Tokyo Jan. 16, 1959. The one draw in his record was with Shirai in 1954, four months before Perez won the title.

"Pone is enthusiastic, almost cocksure," claimed his manager, Thong Thos. The challenger, 24, has eight inches in height on Perez but lacks his experience.

Perez weighed 110½ pounds and Kingpetch 111 pounds after workouts Friday.

Nat Fleischer of New York, editor of Ring Magazine who is fight director, said he had $32,000 in his possession for Perez, who already has received a $10,000 advance. Kingpetch gets 25 per cent of the gate.

League Opens With 8 Clubs From 9 Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago, the American Assn. operated as a 10-city baseball league divided into two divisions—and the experiment seemed far from popular with most of the fans.

Now the class AAA circuit opens another season—its 59th—Saturday with nine cities represented in an eight-club circuit. Dallas and Fort Worth, separate entries in 1959, are paired up as a single entry with 48 home games at Dallas and 29 at Fort Worth.

The opening day schedule has St. Paul at Louisville, Houston at Charleston and Minneapolis at Indianapolis in afternoon skirmishes, and Denver at Dallas at night.

Once again the Association offers the picture of former big leaguers sharing space in the dugout with the younger stars a step away from the majors and youngsters battling to keep from being dropped back to lower classification leagues.

The Louisville Colonels won the pennant last season under Manager Ben Geraghty, who is one of the two pilots to survive the wholesale turnover.

The Minneapolis Millers won the post-season playoffs in both 1958 and 1959, but lost their manager, Gene Mauch, this week to the Philadelphia Phillies. Eddie Popowski succeeds Mauch.

Jim Fanning at Dallas - Fort Worth skippered the Dallas Rangers last season.

The other new pilots are Charley Metro for the Denver Bears, Danny Ozark for the St. Paul Saints, Enos (Country) Slaughter for the Houston Buffs, Del Wilber for the Charleston Senators, and Johnny Hutchings for the Indianapolis Indians.

Louis B. Rogers of Baton Rouge, La., has a 3-year-old colt named Chinese Bandits, after the LSU defensive football unit.

Jordan Hurls Grayson To No-Hit Win

GRAYSON, La. (Special) — Melvin Jordan pitched a no-hitter here Thursday for his sixth straight victory without defeat this season as Grayson drubbed Sicily Island, 17-0.

Jordan fanned 11 and had a perfect game through the first 17 batsmen but weakened in the sixth to walk two and two more in the seventh. An error enabled Sicily Island to push a runner as far as third in the seventh.

Jordan has pitched all of Grayson's games.

Besides his pitching effort, Jordan led his team at bat with 4-5. Joe Bill Pine and Bob West each got 2-3.

Grayson will play its final home game of the season next Tuesday against Winnfield.

TOKYO (AP)—Joe Becerra of Mexico will defend his world bantamweight boxing title against Japan's Kenji Yonekura May 20 in Tokyo, according to the sponsoring Yomiuri newspaper.

The Yomuiri, one of Japan's largest dailies, said the 15-round match would be held in Tokyo's 40,000-seat Korakuen baseball stadium. In case of rain, the bout would be postponed to May 23.

Becerra and his party are due in Japan April 27.

LSU, Baylor, State Tied For First Place

Last Games Slated Today At Northeast

LSU faltered and Baylor and Mississippi State swept both their games to throw first place in the Northeast Easter Baseball Tournament into a three- way tie as the six participating teams headed into Saturday's final three contests.

Bobby Barnett hurled a two-hitter to stop LSU, 3-0, in a morning game as Baylor blemished the record of the last unbeaten team in the three-day tournament. LSU, State and Baylor are now 3-1, Arkansas 2-2, host Northeast 1-3 and Northwestern 0-4.

Mississippi State beat Northeast, 5-3, and Arkansas, 3-2, yesterday while Baylor mauled Northwestern, 16-2, in its afternoon game. LSU rebounded to edge Northeast, 7-6, in an afternoon contest and Arkansas topped Northwestern, 4-3, in the other morning engagement.

LSU faces Northwestern in today's first game at 10 this morning. State and Baylor tangle at one with the title or a share of it awaiting the winner. Northeast and Arkansas play the last tilt at 3:30. All of today's games will be at Northeast.

Northeast and State shared the title last season.

Ten home runs were hit in yesterday's games as power overshadowed pitching finesse. Six of the circuit clouts were hit in Baylor's romp over Northwestern and three in the Arkansas - Northwestern clash.

The only outstanding pitching job was turned by Barnett, who allowed only singles by George Nattin and Bastrop's Frank Naff.

Jerry Williams' seventh inning homer over the left field fence broke a 3-3 tie and gave Arkansas its 4-3 nod over Northwestern. Shortstop Don Pope batted in the winning runs in both of Mississippi State's victories. His two-run triple won the game with Northeast and his one - run, sixth inning single beat Arkansas.

Andy Bourgeois doubled in Bo Strange, on via a bunt single, in the seventh to give LSU an uphill victory over Northeast. Baylor banged out 20 hits in crushing Northwestern.

MISS. STATE 3, ARKANSAS 2

Righthander Jerry Merriman squeezed out of a last - inning jam to register a 3-2 victory over Arkansas as Mississippi State moved into a tie for the lead in the Easter Tournament.

Arkansas' Razorbacks almost pulled out the afternoon game, loading the bases with one out in the seventh, but only managed one run.

Taking its third victory against one defeat, State's Maroons scored two unearned runs in the first when outfielder Mickey Phillips homered to score Johnny Cantrel ahead of him. Cantrel had reached first with one out when Lance Alworth dropped his fly in center. Gary Dempsey grounded to short for the second out before Phillips drove the ball over the right field fence to give State a 2-0 lead.

Bill Ferrell's Hogs scored once in the second without a hit. Alworth walked, Norman Revis was hit by the pitcher, Pat Foster sacrificed the runners up a base, Jarrell Williams walked to load the bases and Max Holloway lifted a fly to left with Alworth tagging up and coming home after the catch.

State got the winning tally in the sixth. Dempsey led off with a scratch safety but was for cedat second on Phillips' fielder's choice. Phillips stole second and continued on to third when catcher Joe Nosari threw wild. Don Pope brought Phillips in with a single to right.

Pitcher John Kerr started Arkansas' bid in the seventh with a one - out single. Darrel Williams then drew a free pass and Nosari singled to load the bases. Jerry Carlton sent Kerr across with an infield grounder but Merriman coaxed Alworth into the final out, a grounder to short.

Kerr, who shut out Baylor Thursday on four hits, gave up seven yesterday. Arkansas made six off Merriman but could get more than one only in the seventh. Merriman walked four and hit one batter.

Dempsey and Phillips led State's hitting. Dempsey got 2-3 and Phillips driving home two runs. Nosari was 2-4 for Arkansas and Norman Revis 2-2.

LSU 7, NORTHEAST 6

Clutch - hitting Andy Bourgeois rammed a double to the left field wall with one out in the bottom of the seventh inning to score Charles "Bo" Strange with the winning run as the Tigers came from three runs behind to decision Northeast.

Bourgeois' solid smash came off reliever Jay Gross who came to the aid of starter Jerry Collins when the Bengals plated three runs in the sixth to knot the count at 6-6.

Butch Mixon, the third LSU moundsman, gave up only two runs in 4 2-3 innings of relief work and picked up his second victory of the tournament.

LSU jumped into a 2-0 lead in DELIVERING HOME RUN is Baylor's Ted Uhlaender as he crosses the plate in Easter Tournament game with Northwestern State yesterday on Neville High diamond here. Bears' Arthur Fuentes (5), who also hit for the circuit, is on way to congratulate his teammate while Demon catcher O'Brien Smith watches. Umpire James Hearn is partially seen behind Uhlaender. Baylor went on to 16-2 victory. (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

Cubs Improved Over Last Year

By ALAN CLINE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sam Jones, ace of the San Francisco pitching staff, escorted Ernie Banks through the new, spacious Giant dressing room at Candlestick Park. When the Chicago shortstop departed, Jones commented:

"That guy won't hit any homers around here."

Jones should have known better. Banks, most valuable Player in the National League for two years, belted a grand slammer in the fourth inning as the Cubs beat the Giants 6-5 Thursday night.

It was the second night in a row a Banks homer helped the Cubs win. The first came at Los Angeles.

The Chicagoans, in pre-season were lightly rated, but now feel themselves a much improved outfit.

"We'll surprise a few pessimists," said reliever Don Elston. "I think we'll finish in the first division."

"We've got Banks and he's good for 150 runs batted in to start with."

The Cubs have a new manager, Charley Grimm, who first joined the team in 1924 and has been its field boss three times.

He feels several trades made the club better balanced and more solid.

Frank Thomas, a terror at the plate two years ago, and Richie Ashburn were the key men obtained in pre-season swaps.

Thomas had three hits against the Giants and a three run homer the night before in Los Angeles. He's playing left field where he wants to be instead of third base, his post the last few years at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

Grimm feels George Altman, a 6-4 first baseman, will erase Cub problems there, Altman, in only his second year in the majors, fields well and has power.

Ashburn, though slowing up a bit at 33, can still get on base. He doubled and walked against the Giants, and has six hits in 13 at-bats his setason.

And, of course, here's Banks . . .the only shortstop ever to hit more than 40 home runs in a season. He's done it four times.

He led the league last year in runs batted in (143) and established two major league fielding records for a shortstop, best percentage (.985) and fewest errors (12).

Arcaro Aboard Three Winners To Pass 4,500

NEW YORK (AP)—Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who begins a 10-day suspension Saturday, passed the 4,500 mark in winners at Aqueduct Friday with a consecutive triple.

The 44-year-old master jockey, suspended by the stewards for careless riding on Wednesday, made it 4,499 with Townsend B. Martin's Peter Pie ($9.40) in the fifth, then reached 4,500 with Kings Song ($15.90) in the sixth race.

In the seventh, Arcaro started toward the 5,000 mark by winning the feature aboard Audrey Davies' Miss Cloudy ($5.60).

Miss Cloudy ran the 6 furlongs in 1:10 3-5 and beat Peter Fuiler's Helipat by 2½ lengths. Cisley Stable's Kit's Pet was third.

Earlier, Jockey Willie Shoemaker was held blameless for the action of his mount, Big Klu, in Thursday's fifth race. The horse finished first but was disqualified and placed fourth.

Homers Cheap In Giants' Park

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International

When the Giants and Dodgers used to operate their franchises in New York, controversy constantly swirled around their heads.

If it didn't involve their strange and rewarding rivalry, it certainly had something to do with the parks they called home.

The Polo Grounds, where the Giants played, often was called the home of the "Chinese" home run in a derisive allusion to cheap or short home runs.

Ebbets Field, the home of the Dodgers, was dubbed a "band box." Here, too, the reference wasn't exactly complimentary, the inference being that a home run was a cheap commodity in a park designed to make even the puniest hitter a long-ball threat.

The Dodgers were the first to come under fire when they decided to play their home games in mammoth Los Angeles Coliseum, a football stadium hardly designed to improve a baseball pitcher's confidence with its 250-foot left field line. "Chinese home run," missing from baseball's jargon for two years, made a sudden and thunderous return.

The Giants were next. Candlestick Park, their new "dream stadium," has been open for only three games and already it is the subject of conversation where baseball people and fans gather.

Actually, though, Candlestick Park, located on a spit of land overlooking San Francisco Bay, is one of the most evenly laid out parks in the major leagues. Its foul lines are the same in both right and left — 335 feet — and center field is a distant 420 feet from home plate.

But in laying out the park, the architects apparently paid little or no attention to the prevailing winds which whip in from the nearby bay. The wind blows from left field across to right, making any ball hit high enough in right almost a sure bet to reach the fence. Thus, it's apparently going to be a haven for left-handed swingers.

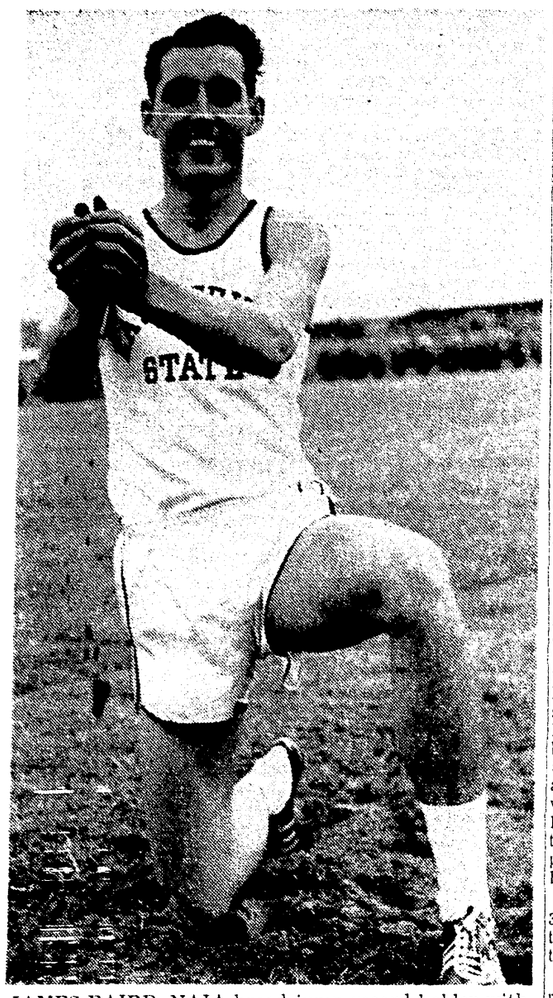
Northeast Hosts McNeese, ETS In Final Home Meet



JAMES BAIRD, NAIA broad jump record holder with a leap of 25 feet, 3¼ inches last spring, heads a list of outstanding entries in that event in tonight's track meet heer between Northeast, McNeese and East Texas. Baird of East Texas, Don Troutman of McNeese and Northeast's Jerry Dyes are entered in the broad jump.

Northeast's record wrecking trackmen, primed by a landslide victory over Louisiana State Thursday night, take dead aim on a set of ten brand new Brown Field standards tonight at seven o'clock in a triangular meet with highly-regarded East Texas State and Gulf States Conference rival McNeese.

The Brown Field feature, last event of Northeast's three-day Easter sports carnival, will mark the final home appearance of the season for coach Lew Hartzog's undefeated spikemen.

In winning their eighth straight meet Thursday, the Indians put on probably their most impressive showing of the campaign, amassing 102 1-3 points to LSU's 41 2-3. Local record books were virtually erased as twin flashes Don and Dave Styron and Buddy Eiland accounted for two new marks each and Hoy Rogers and Jerry Dyes chipped in with one each. The Tribe 440 and mile relay teams also turned in record times.

Northeast, GSC champion, and East Texas, Lone Star Conference kingpins, have met twice before this season with the local thinclads taking both outings. Northeast won the college division title in the Southwestern Recreation Meet at Fort Worth last month with 81½ points to 59½ for the runnerup East Texans. Last weekend at the Southwestern Relays in Lafayette the Indians grabbed the unofficial team championship with 70 points to 43 for the third place East Texas squad.

Northeast routed McNeese 103-36 at Lake Charles in the two teams' only previous meeting this season.

Featuring the meet will be the rubber contest between Northeast's Dave Styron and East Texas' Sid Garton, the defending NAIA 220-yard dash champion. Garton edged Styron last week at Lafayette with a time of 10.3 seconds in the 100-meter dash. Dave's only other defeat of the year had come minutes before when Bobby Morrow, co-holder of the world record in the century, shaded him in a special 100-meter dash in 10.2, a tenth of a second off the world standard.

Earlier in the year Dave finished first and Garton second in both the 100 and the 220 at Fort Worth.

Another outstanding feature will be the meeting of the East Texas and Northeast 440-yard relay teams, rated as two of the best in the United States. Northeast Coach Lew Hartzog predicts a time of 40.5 seconds or under.

The Texas Lions' relay squad will consist of Garton, James Baird, John West and Fred Schaefer. Northeast will send Dave Styron, Dick Hays, Roger Beumer and Don Styron into the event.

Dave Styron, an Olympic prospect in the 440-meter dash, will get his first crack at that event this season in Saturday's meet. His main competition will come from Donnie Foster, who has a 46.8 to his credit this season.

The other half of the sterling Styrons, hurdler Don, will meet Roy (Buddy) McKee and Charles Bode, both of East Texas, in the high and low hurdles. McKee, a nationally recognized hurdler back after a year's absence because of injury, has a 14.0 in the highs. Bode is defending Lone Star Conference high - hurdles champion and second in the lows. Don Styron is the pending world record holder in the low hurdles with a time of 21.9 in a dual meet with Louisiana State April 2.

The Cowboys from Lake Charles have shown potential strength in the relays and have lowered school records in the 440 and 880 events. However, both marks are well off the best times of Northeast and East Texas.

The Lions' Garton has a host of accomplishments to his credit. Last year he tied the national record for freshmen with a 9.4 100-yard dash and had win-aided times of 9.3 in the 100 and 19.6 in the 220. His win over Dave Styron last weekend came about 40 minutes after Dave had made an all-out effort against Morrow in the special 100-meter event, in which Garton was not entered.

Northeast's ace distance man Don Eiland will face the Lions' Hylke "Hike" van der Wal in the mile and two-mile events. Eiland was defeated in the two - mile at the Southwestern Relays by Al Lawrence, the Australian Olympian, who set a new relays record. However, Eiland set the pace during most of the first four laps and finished second with a 9:12.5, his personal best and a school record for Northeast, bettering the Eiland-set former mark of 9:31.4.

Without the benefit of a close competitor against LSU, the durable Farmerville sophomore turned in a brilliant 4:10 effort in the mile and 9:27.4 in the two-mile.

East Texas' James Baird, Northeast's Dyes and McNeese's Don Troutman should put on an interesting show in the broad jump. Baird, one of the top jumpers in the country, is defending NAIA broadjump champion and national record holder with a leap of 25-3¼ at the national meet last spring.

Northeast will eneter freshman John Pennel in the pole vault. His best is 15 feet ¼ inch indoors at the Chattanooga Relays, which makes the Northeast youngster the national freshman record holder.

THE MIDDLE of the best mile relay team going, Dick Hays (left) and Jim Mouser will be in action tonight in the triangular track meet at Brown Stadium. Hays, Mouser and the Styrons ran the mile relay in 3:10.9 Thursday night, best time in the nation this year. (Staff photo by Jim St. Julien)

10 Home Runs Highlight Second Round Triumphs

the opening inning on singles by Bruce Turner and Frank Naff, a double by Francis Genusa and an error by second baseman Eddie McGowan. But Northeast retaliated with three markers in the second frame. Louis Kincaid walked to start the rally and George Bryan singled him to third.

Then Phil Petras, the game's leading batter with three hits in three trips to the plate, socked the first of his two doubles to drive in Kincaid. Bryan and Petras scored a moment later on a pair of Tiger miscues.

Northeast added single counters in the third, fifth and sixth innings while LSU chipped away with one in the fourth and three in the sixth to deadlock the game.

Leading off the decisive seventh, Strange crossed up the Tribe infield and was safe on a bunt. George Nattin popped up attempting to sacrifice and Bourgeois followed with his base - clearing two - bagger.

MISS. STATE 5, NORTHEAST 3

Don Pope's two - run triple in the third gave Mississippi State a 5-3 victory over Northeast in a battle between the defending Easter Tournament co-champions at Legion Friday morning.

Pope broke a 3-3 tie with his blast to right field with two out. The drive brought home John Cantrel, who had singled, and David Parvin, hit by the pitcher.

Pope had cost State's Maroons a go-ahead run in the first when he failed to touch third base after singling and advancing on Mickey Yerger's error in left.

Guy Dempsey got State off to a 2-0 lead in the first with a home run 320 feet over the left field fence wtih Larry Adams, who reached first on an error, aboard. Mickey Phillips reached first on another error, Northeast committed three bobbles in the first, two by Eddie McGowan at second, after Dempsey's poke and came around to score when Pope singled into left and Yerger let the ball go between his legs.

Northeast tied the score in the third. McGowen led off with a long double to right and streaked to third when Adams let the throw in get away. Levy Redden bounced to short and the Maroons tried to get the swift McGowen at home. Eddie was safe in a close play to score the first Indian tally.

Yerger and John O'Connor went out but Phil Petras kept the rally going with a single and Louis Kincaid sent him home with the first of his two doubles. George Bryan walked but Bryan Blevins was called out on strikes to end the frame.

Northeast threatened again in the final inning against reliefer Joe Berryhill as Kincaid doubled with two out and Bryan walked after sending a line shot just foul down the right field line. But Blevins, who tripled in the second, went down swinging to end the game.

Jerry Rouse was the loser for Northeast although he gave up only five hits while Northeast got seven off starter Guy Parker and Berryhill. Lefthander Parker went out after walking Rouse to open the sixth and Berryhill finished.

Petras and Kincaid each got 2-4 to lead Northeast's hitting while Pope had 2-3 for the Maroons.

BAYLOR 3, LSU 0

Baylor scattered seven well-placed hits Friday morning to dump LSU, 3-0, for the Bears' second consecutive win in the tournament.

Righthander Bobby Barnett held the Tigers to only two hits while his teammates hit southpaw Freddie Southerland, a former Neville ace, where it hurt most.

Shortstop Sam Terry was the leading hitter of the game for Baylor as the Bears picked up a run in each of the first, fourth and fifth innings.

Terry hit a triple and a single while catcher David Young added two singles. But it was leftfielder Ted Uhlaender who stole the batting show with a towering triple off the right center field wall.

LSU's big guns at the plate, first sacker Frank Naff and catcher Bo Strange, were held in check although Naff, with a single, accounetd for one of the Tigers' two base raps.

Coach Ray Didier's Bengals actually threatened only once, that coming in the top of the fourth when Strange walked with two away.

Outfielder George Nattin singled sending Strange to third. Andy Bourgeois, a Chinese Bandit playing third, then walked, loading the bases.

Didier called on Morris Summers to pinch-hit, but Barnett forced him to fly out to center. The Tigers failed to get any closer to crossing home than that.

Southerland, a sophomore at Tigertown, had trouble finding the plate when the game, played on the Northeast diamond, first got underway.

He walked Uhlaender, then ran the string out on first baseman Wayne Stone before striking him out. On the third strike, Uhlaender stole second.

Right fielder Tommy Letbetter singled and Uhlaender crossed home for Baylor's first run, first of the ball game.

In the fourth, with one man away and Bob Turner on first after singling, Terry tripled to push Turner across.

Next inning, Uhlaender opened the frame with a towering triple that looked as though it was headed out of the park. Letbetter lifted a cloud - high flyball into deep center to score Uhlaender.

Turner, Baylor's third baseman, turned in the fielding gems of the game, stopping several hard hit balls with good catches without committing an error.

ARKANSAS 4, NORTHWESTERN 3

The home run was the big weapon in the Arkansas - Northwestern morning battle with outfielder Jarrell Williams' seventh inning blast over the left field fence breaking a tie to give the Razorbacks a 4-3 victory.

A two - run homer by shortstop Jerry Carlton of Arkansas had tied the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning, and catcher O'Brien Smith of Northwestern had stroked a long poke in the bottim of the fourth to give the Demons a brief lead once more.

Don Martin, middle man of three Razorback pitchers, claimed the victory and helped his own cause by driving in the run that made it a 3-3 tie in the fifth inning. Martin was pulled for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning, and reliefer Darrell Peters, fireballing lefty, gave Arkansas fans some anxious moments in the final frame when he filled the sacks with only one out before retiring the side without damage.

Losing pitcher Denny Ivey went the full distance for Northwestern, allowing seven hits. It was the Carlton and Williams smashes over the short left field fence at Neville's diamond that ruined Ivey's day.

The Demons cracked Arkansas armor first in the third inning when singles by Mack Knotts, Tom Baker and Ralph Conrad, with the help of an error and Houston Cade's sacrifice, pushed over two runs.

Arkansas' Darrell Williams was aboard with a free pass when Carlton delivered his game tying home run in the top of the fourth inning, and when Northwestern's Smith greeted H. C. Hall, starting Porker pitcher, with a home run to open the bottom of the fourth, Martin was rushed in to put the Demons away in 1-2-3 order for the three frames he worked.

The Razorbacks tied the count again in the fifth when J. Williams walked, raced to third on John Abramczyk's double and scored when Martin bounced a sizzler off Ivey's glove, deflecting the tall to second baseman Knotts who had time only for the putout at first base.

After J. Williams' leadoff homer in the seventh gave Arkansas the edge, Northwestern came back to give the Porkers a fruitless scare.

Ivey walked, and an error on Julian Vienne's bunt left runners on first and third with none out. Knotts grounded sharply to Peters at the mound and was thrown out at first.

Baker laced a sizzler to the third base side of the pitcher and base umpire James Hearn, swiftly backpedalling and sifting into the basepath between second and third in a successful attempt to escape being hit by the batted ball, steamrollered shortstop Carlton into the dirt, to cancel the fielder's good chance of playing the hard hit ball.

With Carlton rolling in the dust and the ball scooting into the outfield, umpire Hearn allowed Carlton first, giving him a single, but held the runners to their bases because of his interference with the fielder.

Thus the sacks were full and still just one out when Peters bore down to fan Cade and get Conrad on a long fly to J. Williams almost against the fence in the homer haven of left field.

BAYLOR 16, NORTHWESTERN 2

Baylor made saints out of the Northwestern Demons Friday with a 20-hit attack, including five homers, for a 16-2 victory in the afternoon.

Leftie Tom Pettigrew held the Demons scoreless on five hits until the last inning when Northwestern broke loose for two runs off three hits, including a round tripper.

The handwriting was on the wall after the first inning, however, when Baylor, sporting a 3-0 victory over LSU a few hours prior, jumped starter Frankie Jones for four quick runs.

Ronald Johnson relieved Jones, but he lasted only an inning, going out before the side was retired in the second. Durwood Wilson then went almost three frames for the hapless Demons and Tommy Armstrong finished up.

Armstrong's first pitch was drilled over the left field fence by second sacker Jerry Funk.

Baylor scored five more runs in the second and capped the day with a seven-run fifth.

Homering for the Bears, besides Funk, were, outfielder Ted Uhlaender, outfielder Arthur Fuentes, first baseman Wayne Stone and shortstop Bob Turner.

Catcher O'Brian Smith slapped one over the short left field fence in the last frame for the Demons, scoring shortstop Nick D'Amico ahead of him.

Smith, with a single, was the Demons' biggest man at the plate.

Uhlaender and Willis led Baylor's hitting, each with two singles, besides homers. Fuentes added a single to his homer and so did Funk and Turner. Young added two singles and a double.

WON'T BUY CELLAR

Winning Baseball Kind Mauch Likes

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch, new manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said Friday—his first on the job—"the only kind of baseball I like is the winning kind, and that's what I expect my team to do."

Sun-tanned, smiling, "and really enthused and happy," the 34-year-old Mauch scoffed at pre-season polls that placed the Phillies in the National League cellar.

"I don't believe it," he said after arriving from Miami by plane. "I think we will do much better. In fact, I know it."

As noisy jets flashed by, Mauch obliged photographers by putting on a Red Phillies cap handed him by John Quinn, the club's beaming general manager who handpicked him for the job to replace Eddie Sawyer.

Sawyer quit Thursday, with the 1960 season just a day old. His reason: "I just didn't want to manage anymore."

Mauch, hired for two years, indicated he'll play the game by eye and ear as he settles into Sawyer's shoes.

"Everybody starts from scratch," he said. "Me, too. I want to see what the boys can do, not what someone tells me they can't.

"You can't tell, really, how long it will take to decide if changes must be made, if someone stays or someone goes.

"I hope, honestly, that no changes will be necessary—that we'll win and keep on winning."

Mauch said he wanted to be the best manager in the major leagues.

Interjected Quinn: "There's nothing wrong with that. That's what we want him to be."

The Phillies had a day off Friday, and Mauch spent the remainder of it resting and talking baseball business with Quinn. He'll take over the club for Saturday's game here with Milwaukee.

Did he plan to make coaching changes?

"I've given the coaching situation a lot of thought," he admitted, "but I haven't talked this over yet with Quinn.

"Coaches are important, but the final decisions are the manager's."

Mauch said over the past few years, while managing the Minneapolis Millers in the American Assn. and previously as a major league infielder, he had seen most of the Phillies ballplayers in action.

"These guys can play or they wouldn't be up here," he asserted.

"Good ball players don't need much handling. You don't get to the big leagues acidentally. You have to be good somewhere. Class shows itself."

Mauch, though young in years, is regarded as a fine baseball technician, a good teacher, a manager who—in the minors, anyway—got the best out of his club.

As to handling players, he noted that "every situation is different. Sometimes you have to show you are boss. Sometimes you just keep quiet. A good player knows when he makes an error."

Mauch said as a ballplayer "I just couldn't make top grade in the majors," and around 1950 started figuring he would do better as a manager.

His first managerial job was at Atlanta in 1953 "but it was too early for me. I wasn't ready yet, though I learned a lot there."

In 1958 he got the Minneapolis appointment, after getting more experience as a player and bench jockey. He won the Little World Series that year, then lost the Series to Havana last season.

PLANS DISCUSSED

Solons Guests Of Local Wildlifers

State senators and representatives from the Fifth congressional district were guests of honor last night at the Paragon club of the Ouachita parish chapter of the La. Wildlife Federation.

According to Bud Tidwell, local groups president, the purpose of the meeting was to give members of the Wildlife Federation a chance to put before the guests the need for new wildlife and conservation legislation.

The main topics discussed at the meeting were: a dollar universal fishing license, a deer tagging system, an increase in hunting license fees, the Bartholomew Bayou project, the outlawing of .22 cal rifles for big game (deer and bear) hunting, and a conservation education program in the schools.

In discussing the hunting license increase Tidwell said that, "The state has done very little to help the little man who has no place to hunt, and a $2.00 license fee increase would help provide money for the needed hunting land.

Chairman Jack Rushing, who spoke for the dollar fishing license, pointed out the poluted condition of many of the state's fishing lakes, noting that, "if the average fisherman can spend over $100 a year for fishing equipment alone, he can afford a $1.00 fishing license to help improve fishing conditions."

In closing the discussion Rushing expressed the hope of the Wildlife Federation to get a bill passed for the buying of the Ouachita Farm Land, approximately 14,000 acres, to be used as a game management project. He said that the land could be bought by the state for $40 per acre.

Martin Clears Only 14-6 In Dallas Meet

DALLAS (AP)—J. D. Martin of Oklahoma set a record for the Dallas Invitation track and field meet Friday night but failed in his effort for a world mark in the pole vault.

Martin was able to get only 14 feet 6 inches and failed in three tries at 15 feet. He bettered the meet record of 14-2 set in 1957 by Ron Morris of Southern California.

The Oklahoma star made 15-9¾ last Tuesday and had hoped to hit the magic 16 feet here. But he appeared weary from competing in five meets in 13 days.

The official world record is 15 feet 8¼ inches.

Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma, meet record holder in the mile at 4:10.8, was upset in his specialty. Jim Parr of Southern Methodist caught him in the stretch and won by two yards in 4:16.2.

Ralph Alspaugh of Texas ran the 220-yard dash in 20.4 to tie the meet record.

Mohr Condition Still Critical

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—University Hospitals said Friday the condition of boxer Charlie Mohr remained unchanged and still very critical.

The 22-year-old Wisconsin senior from Merrick, N.Y., has been unconscious since he collapsed after a bout April 9. He was knocked out while defending his 165-pound division title in the NCAA tournament.

Tribe Outslugs Farmhands, 11-6

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Walt Bond hit a home run and a long triple for Cleveland Friday as the Indians defeated their Toronto farmhands 11-6.

Jim Perry worked seven innings allowing two hits and two runs. Toronto scored four runs on a grand slam homer by Jim King, former Chicago Cub, off southpaw Mike Lee, Indians' bonus boy.

Illinois Grabs Early Lead In Arkansas Meet

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Illinois got off to a fast start in Friday's limited action in the Arkansas Relays, winning the four mile relay and setting a meet record in the sprint medley relay.

The Illinois sprint medley team of Del Coleman, Ed Houston, John Lattimore and George Kerr raced to a 3:26.4 clocking to better Kansas' 1953 mark of 3:27.2.

Coleman, Houston and Kerr were on the Illinois team that last year set a world's record of 3:17.3.

The Illini had to overcome Lattimore's pulled muscle to set their meet record. He pulled up lame and dropped from first to third. Kerr took the baton on the 880-yard anchor leg and passed the leading Oklahoma State runner.

Illinois won the 4-mile relay in 17:y5.7. Arkansas was second and Oklahoma State finished third.

Most of the events in the annual track and field carnival are Saturday. At least nine Olympic contenders are expected to compete.

Al Hamilton of Kansas State won the javelin with a throw of 210 feet 6¼ inches. Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma State won the open 220-yard dash around one turn in 22.1 seconds.

3 DAYS IN NATIONAL

New Pilot, Record Crowds, Six Men Batting Over .500

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League took a day off Good Friday after three days of action that produced 341,809 paid admissions, a new manager in Philadelphia and six men hitting .500 or better.

If there was one development that stood out above all others in the first few days it was recognition that Chuck Dressen had taken a firm hold in Milwaukee.

The appearance of Lew Burdette in the bullpen and the quick hook for Warren Spahn on opening day was a solid hint. As soon as Chuck hit Philadelphia for a weekend series, he announced that Spahn, too, would be in the bullpen if needed against the Phils, Juan Pazarro was out there Thursday.

Noting that Red Schoedienst had enough to do to supervise his own comeback after losing a year because of tuberculosis, Dressen appointed Eddie Mathews the "take charge guy" on the infield.

When Philadelphia started a left-handed pitcher, Dressen revealed he planned to platoon center and left. He brought in Mel Roach to replace Al Spangler in left and sent Felix Mantille to center instead of Bill Bruton. Of course, the left field situation may be changed when Wes Covington is ready for full time duty.

Philadelphia had its largest opening crowd in two years, 32,038, to see acting Manager Andy Cohen make the right moves and beat Dressen. Frantic shifting of pitches and pinch hitters finally brought up Joe Koppe. His single off Johnny Logan's glove won the game 5-4 in the 10th inning.

Although the hitting of Bobby Del Greco and the relief pitching of Don Cardwell were encouraging to Phil fans, the early bombing of Curt Simmons was a disappointment. Gene Mauch takes over as boss starting Saturday.

Pittsburgh, regarded as a singles-hitting club without much power, leads the league with a 333 club batting average, mostly on the strength of the 13-0 romp over Cincinnati Thursday afternoon. Roberto Clemente, the Pirates' right-fielder, is way out there with a .714 average and six runs batted in for two games. Dick Groat is hitting .625.

Cal McLish, a 19-game winner at Cleveland last year, failed in his first outing for Cincinnati, lasting less than three innings. However, the Reds are happy with Billy Martin's .500 average and the .429 hitting of rookie Tony Gonzalez, the new right fielder.

San Francisco's new park brought a flurry of conflicting reports. First, the wind was so tricky it was believed that nobody would hit a left field homer. Then Thursday night Orlando Cepeda of the Giants connected and Ernie Banks hit a grand slammer into the cross wind and over the fence. Willie Mays, incidentally, is rolling along at a .500 clip.

The Chicago Cubs hoped for new power from Frank Thomas and they got a sample. After going hitless in seven trips, Thomas hit a three-run homer off Los Angetes' Larry Sherry Wednesday night and came through with three hits, including the winning double off the Giants' Billy O'Dell, Thursday night.

Los Angeles won a couple of one-run games and was shut out by the Cubs' Glen Hobbie. After the shutout, Manager Walter Alston benched center fielder Don Demeter and called on rookie Tom Davis in a search for more punch. Sherry lost his first as a starter but gets another try Sunday against St. Louis.

St. Louis was the only non-winner, dropping three straight, 3-1, 6-1 and 3-2. The pitching wasn't bad, except for Vinegar Bend Mizell, who was knocked out in the third inning by the Giants, and the wild pitch by relief pitcher Bob Duliba that lost Thursday night's game to the Dodgers.

Nobody has been hitting. Darly Spencer, the ex-Giant, is 0-for-11 and the club average is a .163.

DODGER HITTING POOR

Pilot Dissatisfied Despite Victories

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The record is 2-1 for Los Angeles but manager Walter Alston is far from satisfied with the World Champion Dodgers.

The two wins were a carry-over from last year's weird and wild Dodger doings—3-2 over the Chicago Cubs in 11 innings on opening day, and, thanks to a wild pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth inning, 3-2 over St. Louis Thursday night.

Sandwiched between was a 4-0 Cub triumph Wednesday night.

"Our hitting has been bad but I have no kicks about the pitching," Alston said as the Dodgers took Good Friday off. They resume their series with the Cardinals Saturday night.

Evidence that Old Smokey was somewhat unhappy came when he disclosed he had planned to have the club stay over-time Thursday night for batting practice.

But Alston later relented in view of the exciting windup.

Alston, by necessity perhaps, mixed his criticism of such famed sluggers as Duke Snider and Gil Hodges. The Duke had gone hitless in eight times at bat before he tied the game with a home run in the seventh inning.

Hodges' ninth inning triple, his second hit of the night—and the new season, produced the 2-2 tying run, and he scored the winning run on Bob Duliba's wild pitch.

"Even if Hodges has looked bad, you got to give him credit for coming through in the clutch," Alston noted.

The skipper said he plans to keep rookie Tommy Davis in center field Saturday night and possibly Sunday. He explained that Don Demeter, whose hitting kept the club going in the early going last year, "isn't hitting like he should."

Manager Solly Hemus of St. Louis was understandably burned by the Thursday finish while a disconsolate Duliba could only say:

"I was trying to keep it low and outside. But I held the ball too long. I don't know why, I just did."

Duliba was pitching to pinch-hitter Carl Furillo with the bases loaded. The count was 2-1 when he uncorked the wild one.

"He got the jitters. No doubt about it," said the Dodger third base coach, Bobby Bragan.

Rebels Smash Greenies, 13-2

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi, defending champion of the Southeastern Conference, won its 10th straight baseball game Friday by beating Tulane 13-2.

Sophomore southpaw Tommy Climer allowed Tulane five hits and struck out 12 men but was in trouble occasionally because of wildness. He issued eight walks. Climer had three singles in four trips and drove in three runs.

Herb Falls went all the way for Tulane, giving up 18 hits. He scattered seven hits during the first four innings but Missssippi pounced on him in the fifth to score three runs.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Larry Beck, Houston sophomore from Kinston, N.C., sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the last green Friday and pulled into a tie with Gene Dixon of Memphis State for the third round lead in the National Intercollegiate invitation golf tournament.

The rally gave Beck a 2-under-par 70. Dixon, the 18-and 36-hole leader, posted a 73 on the 6,081-yard par 72 Pine Forest Country Club course.

Beck enters Saturday's final round with a 73-69-70—212, Dixon 71-62-73—212.

LSU defeated North Texas 6-0 to advance into the team match final with Houston, a 5-1 winner over Texas A&M.

Al Dark Rumors Quiet As Mauch Gets Phils' Job

PHILADELPHIA AP — The resignation of Eddie Sawyer and the hiring of Gene Mauch to replace him as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies brought this comment from Al Dark:

"When Sawyer resigned, it was the greatest thing he ever did for me. Now I can come to the ballpark every day and concentrate on the game without somebody asking me, 'when are you going to take over the Phillies?'"

The veteran third baseman had been frequently mentioned as the eventual Phils' pilot since he was acquired from the Chicago Cubs in the off-season.

In the wake of rumors that one of the reasons for Sawyer' quitting was his inability to handle veteran ballplayers, Dark commented:

"I liked Eddie ... if you couldn't play for Eddie, you just couldn't play, period."

Roy Ledbetter Wins Opening Match, 4 And 3

NBA SCHEDULES MEETING

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association will hold its annual spring meeting in New York, April 26-27, President Maurice Podoloff announced Thursday.

The proposed pension plan, a review of financial statements, the schedule and the possible admission of a Chicago franchise will be on the agenda.

Birmingham, Mobile Voted Co-Favorites

ATLANTA (AP)—Birmingham and Mobile, involved last year in a playoff for the Southern Assn. pennant, wear co-favorite tags in the 1960 race which gets underway Saturday.

They clash at Birmingham in a night game, and Little Rock is at Shreveport in the other after-dark opener. Atlanta is at Chattanooga and Memphis at Nashville for afternoon inaugurals.

Confident business office people predict an aggregate turnout of 28,500 fans for the four games. It would be an increase of almost 9,000 over the 1959 campaign which began dismally at the gate and stayed that way all season.

The class AA league, staggering from financial reverses, must have a better ear or go out of business. Hal Totten, successor to Charlie Hurth as league president, agrees with a younger, more aggressive front office crowd that the Southern hit bottom a year ago and will begin a new era of prosperity.

Little Rock, out of the league last year, has replaced New Orleans. Ootherwise the field returns intact for the Southern's 60th season.

FINSTERWALD, SNEAD

Greensboro Lead Shared By Two

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Ageless Sam Snead, gunning for his seventh Greater Greensboro Open Golf victory, and defending champion Dow Finsterwald moved into the 36-hole lead Friday with eight-under-par 134 totals.

At the halfway mark of the $17,500 tournament, they were one stroke ahead of Bob Goalby, who won his only major circuit event here two years ago.

They were but three of 13 men who shot in the 60's as the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course yielded 20 sub-par scores and 10 others that matched par 71.

Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., shot a five-under-par 66. Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., had his second 67. Goalby, from Crystal River, Fla., had a 66.

Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia, was next with a 70 for 137.

At 138 were first day leader Thorne Wood, southpaw swinging pro from Asheboro, N.C., who had a 72, and Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, who took a 68.

The best round of the tournament, a 35-30—65, put Kel Nagle, also from Sydney, in seventh place at 139. He needed only 27 putts and had 10 one-putt greens after taking three on the first hole.

The low 63 pros shooting 149 or better survived the cut for the final two days' play.

Snead, who will be 48 next month, bogeyed the first hole for the second day, taking three putts. But putts of 5 and 8 feet brought birdies on the seventh and ninth and he turned in 34, one under.

Coming back he birdied No. 12 from 3 feet, got down in two for a birdie on the par five 14th, canned a 12-footer to birdie No. 17 and on 18 again got down in two for a birdie four.

Finsterwald, 17 years younger than Snead, opened with nine pars, but overshot the green to bogey the short 10th. He bagged three birdies in a row starting at No. 12 on putts of four, one and 10 feet. After three pars, he eagled the 18th from 25 feet.

IDOLATOR FAVORED

Chesapeake Runs Five Derby Hopes

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eight 3-year-olds, five eligible for the Kentucky Derby, are scheduled to meet Saturday in the $25,000-added Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel. The probable favorite is Alfred Vanderbilt's Idolator, who won a prep race at Laurel with authority last week.

With 16 horses entered for the 53rd running of the $25,000 Excelsior Handicap at Aqueduct, some heavy traffic is in prospect. The Llangollen Farm's Restless Wind is topweighted under 126 pounds, and is the favorite. Restless Wind starts as an entry with Crasher, 114.

The $25,000 Southern Cross Handicap at Gulfstream drew seven entries; a dozen 3-year-old fillies were named for the $20,000 Ashland Stakes at Keeneland; eleven were entered for the $20,000 Governors Handicap at Bay Meadows; Sportsmans Park opens with the $15,000 Inaugural Handicap in which 13 were entered; and 10 were named for the $5,000 New Haven Handicap at Lincoln Downs.

Other Derby eligibles in the 1¼ mile Chesapeake are April Fool Farm's April Skies, Elkeam Stable's Keenation, Valley Farm's Yomolka, and F.P. Ryan's Whitechapel. The last Chesapeake winner to win the Kentucky Derby was Citation in 1948.

Walter Wickes, Jr.'s Vendetta, winner of last week's Westchester Handicap at Aqueduct in a 4-horse photo, is back again for the Excelsior with 119 pounds. That is the same weight for Arnold Hanger's Whitley, who won the race at Jamaica last spring. Howell E. Jackson's Tick Tock, fourth in the Westchester, is second high weight to Restless Wind with 122. The distance is one mile.

W.S. Miller's Better Bee, with 120 pounds, heads the field for the 1⅛ mile Southern Cross. Better Bee won the race in 1958 and 1959. Mrs. Q.A. Shaw McKean's Polylad and Elmendorf Farm's Day Court are next with 116 each.

H.P. Headley's Rash Statement, Hugh Grant's Airman's Guide, and F.W. Hooper's Confuse top the weights for the Ashland at 6 furlongs, each under 121 pounds. Confuse goes as an entry with Quaze, 115.. Calumet Farm has an entry, Prince's Gate and Heliolight, both at 115. The Cain Hoy Stable, winner of two of the last three Ashlands with Jota Jota and Hidden Talent, has entered Make Sail, 113.

In the Governors Handicap, 1 1-16 miles, Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan is the top weight under 120 pounds. Mr. Snack has 117, and Twentyonegums, 115.

The Inaugural at Chicago is 6½ furlongs, and high weight is Frank Munao's Resolved, with 120 pounds. Also entered are the M. H. Van Berg entry of Redbird Wish, 115, and Safe Message, 113, and Deack Duncan, 115.

Charlie Boy, a New England favorite, heads the lineup entered for the 5-furlong New Haven Handicap with 122 pounds.

Prior to 1933 only six states had legalized pari-mutuel betting.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Kids Today Know How To Care For Records

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old son went into a near convulsion because I picked up a phonograph record with my bare hands. He hysterically informed me just don't TOUCH records with your hands because the oil from human hands spoils the grooves or some such nonsense. You are supposed to use a flannel cloth. Fancy that!

Furthermore, I have been informed that an ordinary, everyday sapphire needle ruins good records and now we have to buy a diamond stylus. Have the kids of today gone nuts or am I a crazy old coot of 44? Thank you for an answer. — OUT-OF-IT-DAD

Dear Dad: Ain't it the truth? When I was a girl (back in the Stone Age) we had a phonograph with a two-bit needle and thought it was great. Today if you don't have stereo or at least hi-fi you're underprivileged.

It's true, however, that kids today have a much healthier respect for records than we did — and this is good. It encourages them to respect good music. So live with it, Dad, they could be out shooting pool.

Dear Ann: I've been going with this fellow five years. We were engaged six months ago and planned a June wedding. Last week he taunted me once too often about an old girl friend so I told him to take her out and get it over with.

Well, he took her out not once but three times, then suggested we should postpone our wedding until he is "sure." I told him if he wanted to postpone the wedding he could have his ring back. He said, "Thank you. I'll take it."

He calls me every night and tells me he loves me best but I know he's been seeing her. Was I a fool to encourage him to take her out? My mother says I was a ninny.

I love him very much and now I'm afraid I've lost him for good. Please help me through this rough period. — TELLY

Dear Telly: You did the right thing when you gave back the ring and postponed the wedding. The girl who marries a man who has doubts plus an eye for an old flame makes a big mistake. He's bound to slip his collar sooner or later.

It took courage to do what you did, and it may have saved you from a lifetime of marital woe or a heartbreaking divorce. If he comes back (and he may) you'll know he wants you more than anyone else — and he'll know it, too.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Children Definitely Want Some Authority

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Both in the field of criminal law and in the home, attitudes toward punishment have gone through several phases. Before the twentieth century a child had no rights and was completely at the mercy of the parent. Parents were strict, demanded complete obedience and used any method of punishment their own emotions inspired.

But the "day of the child" dawned and with it a sense of the indecency of making the child the slave of the parents' whims or demands. Educators, philosophers, parents in general were ripe for the ideas that a child had a right to self-expression, even if this can counter to the wishes of the parent.

The exuberance of this idea, exemplified in education by schools which encouraged self-expression, ran its slow course. The absurdity of allowing a child to do just as he pleased, soon became apparent, even to the most fanatical converts.

Leniency was no virtue any more than strictness had once been. Parents, being human, had long before refused to allow their children self-expression and well it is that they did.

TOOK YEARS

But it took years of such foolishness to convince everyone that children wanted to be guided and limits set to their behavior. If they could do as they pleased, it was no fun doing it. Parents are needed as necessary brakes to a child's uncontrolled nature.

Even if a child grumbles a little inevitably he is happy to say, "My parents won't let me," or, "I can't do that." This takes the burden from him and puts it where it belongs — on the parent who is capable of bearing it. Children do not have the experience or the judgment to make the decisions called upon them to make, they need older and wiser heads.

BACK TO AUTHORITY

The question of punishment has not come quite full circle since the days when it was smart to be strict. But parents are again taking upon themselves the necessity to control their children and to punish undesirable behavior.

Many have so long been steeped in the idea of leniency that it isn't easy for them to again mount the throne of authority; but they are coming to it.

Spanking is once again permitted by "authorities" though they counsel moderation in punishment; just as in legal circles, harsh punishments and death sentences are frowned upon for even vicious law-breakers.

The parent can now act as she feels she should act when the child deserves punishment—without feeling the weight of criticism and guilt she once felt when she did what seemed to come naturally.

If you would like to have our 10-cent booklet "Obedience and Punishment" send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

CLOTHES MAKE YOUR MAN

College Clothes Appear 'Smart'

By HARRY JUSTER

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I have a problem with my relatives with whom I live. I am a foreign student attending a university here. They say I'm too conservative in my clothing although my collegt friends think I dress smartly. My latest buy was a pair of gray slacks with a small plaid and a solid black sport jacket. Do you believe my relatives are right? Should I wear more colorful clothes?

A Confused Student

Everything's relative. Sometimes too much so! I agree with your college mates. Your latest outfit is smart. Add a red and olive foulard breast pocket handkerchief and a harmonizing tie and you'll have all the color you need.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: The new trim style suits may be O.K. but I'll take the old-fashioned kind with padded shoulders. Mine really droop and hefty padding built me up. Now when I put on one of these so - called natural shoulder coats, my girl friend says I look like a walking wishbone.

Mike W.

What did your girl used to say when you removed your coat with the built-in bulging shoulders? Certainly clothing should do something for you; that's why various styles are designed. The natural shoulder coat with practically no padding isn't for you. The modified lounge or continental model will give you fairly well built up shoulders without thick, uncomfortable pads that make you look like a fugitive from the gridiron.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Why will a man spoil a good looking wide spread collar shirt by using a tiny knot in his tie? My husband refuses to use a windsor knot which I think looks much better. I even visited a men's shop to learn how to make this larger knot and passed the information on to him, but to no avail. What else can I do?

Mrs. M. W. S.

You have heard the saying, "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." No question, a larger knot is more sightly than a stringy little knot that looks lonesome in the wide open space of a spread collar. Just hope that he'll come to this conclusion all by himself.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Could you settle a bit of confusion in our household. Our son is getting married in about three weeks. It will be a semi - formal wedding. I am under the impression that all the tuxedos and accessories worn by the wedding party are supposed to match. My wife and son don't think this is necessary. Could you straighten us out on this?

Henry G.

Your impression is right. The tuxedo should all be black or midnight blue. Ties, cummerbunds and jewelry also should be the same color. This applies to the boutonnieres, too, except the groom's is always white.

TIP FOR THE DAY
IT'S SPRUCE UP TIME

Even nature welcomes a change. Winter white and bleak gray are replaced with a rich coat of green, colorfully spotted. Let's take a lesson from nature. Break out in a fresh new tie and shirt. Brighten up your other accessories. With spring in the air, this will put a spring in your step.

Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your questions. His new leaflet, "Knotty Problems" will show you how to get an attractive knot in your tie, whether it's a four-in-hand or a bow. Send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet. Address Harry Juster in care of The World.

Actress Drives Into Restaurant

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Carmen Phillips literally drove into a drive-in restaurant Friday, scattering customers, glass and salt and pepper shakers.

Damage was extensive to both the large-window restaurant and Miss Phillips' borrowed foreign sports car. No one was injured.

Miss Phillips, 24, said the brakes failed on the car, loaned by a friend after her own auto was wrecked.

"All the people were jumping over the counter," she said, "and then the whole thing came down."

WIDE SCALE

Communes Abound In Red China

HONG KONG (UPI) — The "boarding house reach" is a handy thing to have in Communist China today as Peiping marches Chinese by the millions into communist messhalls.

Now that urban communes have been officially and publicly okayed, more and more Chinese will break bread side by side with a neighbor.

In Peiping, there now are 4,500 community mess halls. But the most sweeping conversion of communal eating has been in Chungking, the Nationalists' wartime capital, where today there are 27,000 mess halls.

It was in Chungking, apparently, that the Communists began their major experiments in urban communes on a wide scale. The first neighborhood hall was on Shanghsin Street where "organization of the people's economic life was initiated. . .in 1958."

People's communes first were launched in the spring of 1958 in the rural areas and by late fall some 90 per cent of China's half-billion peasants had been herded into them. But imposing communal life in the cities caused greater problems, and at a Communist Party Central Committee meeting at Wuhan in December, 1958, Mao Tse-Tung's "great leap forward" was reduced to marking time in urban areas.

The Communists, however, did not let the urban communes program lapse. Rather, they picked out certain cities as test centers. Chungking was one of them.

One result of the commune program is the addition to China's work force of persons who otherwise would be confined to the home. In Harbin, for example, 300,000 housewives have gone into "socially productive work" in the past two years, according to New China News Agency. There are 4,000 neighborhood service centers in that northeast China city.

If all this works out, Mao will have been vindicated in his determination to turn China into one big, happy family.

Fire Sweeps Newark, N. J., Many Homeless

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A general alarm fire that began on an abandoned railroad trestle spread over four square blocks Friday, leaving 200 families homeless.

About 25 to 30 buildings, all multiple dwellings, were set afire by sparks from the blaze in the industrial-residential district.

The fire broke out at the Household Fuel Trestles Inc., at about 2 p.m. About 2½ hours later Deputy Fire Chief Philip J. Reilly reported the blaze under control. Its origin was not immediately determined.

Reilly said damage was at least a quarter-million dollars.

There were no reports of injuries.

Families driven to the street were given shelter in the auditorium of a brewery nearby.

The fire, shooting flames and smoke spectacularly skyward, was marked by a series of small rapid explosions in the early stages when 100 or more drums of resin blew up.

Bayou Census Brings Problem

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The sometime inaccessible bayous of Louisiana may be both mysterious and romantic, but census taker Russell Bryan expects his month-long boat trip to be a different kind of adventure.

Bryan left early Friday on a 25-foot wooden shrimp boat for the maze of bayous near the mouth of the Mississippi River, about 100 miles below New Orleans.

The labyrinth of wild life, vegetation and ever-winding bayous are only a few of the problems facing Bryan in his count of the marsh country population.

He expects to run into language barriers with French, Spanish, "Cajun" and any variation in between used by the swamp dwellers.

That's where shrimper Sidney Assavedo comes in, acting as interpreter, boat operator and guide.

"We've got to stop at every camp we see," Bryan said as he pushed off in the shrimper. "We don't pass out forms in advance for people to fill out. . ."

Bryan will enter the Mississippi about 20 miles from the pass where the river fans out into several funnels to the Gulf of Mexico.

Eisenhowers Plan Happy Easter Day

AUGUSTA, Ga., (UPI) — The sound of children's laughter came to the vacation White House for the Easter weekend Friday.

Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife and four children arrived from Washington by plane to join President and Mrs. Eisenhower for the weekend. The first lady has been buying Easter baskets for her grandchildren this week and the first family will worship togeter at church here Sunday morning.

The President golfed again this afternoon in warm, summery weather with the temperature nudging 80. The humidity was a bit higher Friday and there were a few more clouds, but generally fair weather is forecast for the weekend.

Eisenhower announced plans for promotions of four Air Force major generals to temporary ranks of lieutenant general in new command assignments. The promotions, to be sent to the Senate after the Easter recess, are:

—Ralph P. Swofford, Jr., vice commander of the Air University, who will become commander of Allied Air Forces in southern Europe upon the retirement of Lieut. Gen. Richard C. Lindsay April 30.

—Edward H. Underhill senior Air Force member of the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group in the office of the defense secretary, and selected as the new chief of staff, United States European Command, upon retirement of Lieut. Gen. O. Barcus June 30.

—Donald N. Yates, commander of the Missile Test Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., who is being put into the new post of deputy director of Defense Research and Engineering (ranges and space ground support.)

—Joe W. Kelly, commander of the Air Proving Ground Center, to become the new commander of the Military Air Transport Service, succeeding the retiring Lieut. Gen. William H. Tunner.

Voice Of Broadway

BY DORTHY KILGALLEN

Broadway Bulletin Board

Various columnists and editorial writers who chided Frank Sinatra for employing Albert Maltz to write a screenplay may take bows for the crooner's decision to fire the controversial author, but the real credit belongs to former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. Unquestionably anti-Communist, Dad Kennedy would have invited Frank to jump off the Jack Kennedy Presidential bandwagon if he hadn't unloaded Mr. Maltz. The situation was becoming especially delicate in Massachusetts, where rather important church figures don't quite understand the Sinatra-Kennedy connection . . . Uncle Sam's Treasury agents are tracking down chorus girls who "forgot" to file income tax returns during the past few years. One Copa graduate is on the carpet for 1956, 1957 and 1958 . . . Marlon Brando's chums report that he's dropped 20 pounds on a high - protein diet, and recently published photographs indicate that was a splendid idea . . . Teri Hope, the 19-year-old who will play a major role in the flicker "Force of Impulse," is a leading contender for the title part in "Lolita."

New twosome: Faith Dane, the bugle - blowing stripper in "Gypsy," and Don Elliott, the jazz musician of "A Thurber Carnival" . . . New York police have quite a long record on a top - ranking Castro aide who was accused of beating the German - American teenager who revealed that the Cuban leader had raped her. The tough guy — a captain in the Castro army — flashed his diplomatic immunity, so the cops had to release him . . . Joe Pasternak may be the first important movie producer to make a movie for one of the pay-TV outfits. He flew to Chicago to confer on the deal . . . A writer on a novelty magazine, interviewing Mort Sahl at Basin Street East the other night, told the comedian he would present him with a "lifetime subscription — probably two more issues" of the publication . . . The press seems to be snubbing the latest Katy Jurado-Ernest Borgnine fireworks.

Sir John Barbirolli is being talked of as director of a major symphony orchestra on this side of the Atlantic, but intimates predict he'll accept the post only if he's allowed to continue with his Halle concerts in England . . . Harry Guardino must be setting some kind of a record. He's among the five actors nominated for the Antoinette Perry Award for best male supporting performance — although the show in which he made his great impact "One More River," ran only three performances on Broadway . . . The most - discussed book among the staffs of local hospitals is a novel called "The Internes." They're all reading it, and one doctor commented: "It does to nurses what 'The Best Of Everything' did to secretaries" . . . The French press already has begun to get rough about Princess Margaret's fiance, Antony Armstrong - Jones . . . Interesting item for Southern newspapers: Governor Edmondson of Oklahoma has made Tiger Haynes, the ebullient guitarist at the Bona Soir, an Honorary Colonel of Oklahoma. Likes the way he makes music.

Fun - loving Johnny Meyers, whose recent California divorce was eclipsed by the Finch trial (it took place in the same courthouse) is back in the swing of things at El Morocco, with Audrey Meadows as his lovely date . . . Parisians are thrilled by the report that Gene Kelly intends to open a dancing school in the French capital and stage Gershwin's "Concerto in F" for the Paris Opera . . . The young man arrested for the Brooklyn "Lovers' Lane" slaying was a "string" photographer for one of the New York gazettes.

George Wallach, basketball high scorer at Adelphia College, Garden City, N. Y., sank 85 of 102 free throws during the year to finish 25th among NCAA small college shooters.

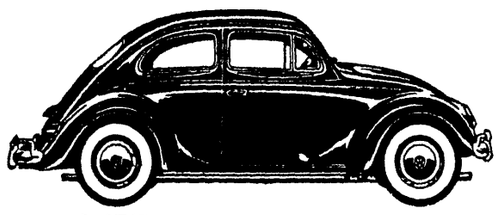
DO YOU OWN THE OLDEST VOLKSWAGEN?



WE'D LIKE TO TAKE A GOOD LOOK AT IT!

We're searching for the oldest Volkswagen still running in the United States. The car we're looking for will have its original body and chassis; the one with the lowest body and chassis serial numbers we find by April 19, 1960 is the one we want. (The engine doesn't count—it need not be the original.) The car we choose must have been registered in the United States as of January 1, 1960 by its present owner. Volkswagens belonging to automobile dealers, personnel of Volkswagen of America, members of Volkswagen distributor and dealer organizations and their immediate families cannot be considered. Remember: the search ends April 19, 1960. Just fill in the facts required below and return it to us at once—or come by and let us gather the facts for us.

'TROUBLE', a monkey-sized honeybear is collared by pole operated by rescuer Leslie Walgamotte to end ten-hour tree roosting above roof tops in New Orleans. Kit Sherman, 17, and her sister, Jackie, 15, purchased the bear as an Easter present surprise for their mother. The bear escaped from the cage and went on to earn a name. PUBLISHER THREATENED

Religious Story Brings On Fight

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A husky laborer clad in ragged coveralls fired a shot at a newspaper publisher Friday and held him at gunpoint in an attempt to get a religious article printed in the paper.

C. V. Rowland, 58, publisher of the Lewistown Sentinel, was held for 45 minutes before police broke into the room, quickly overpowered the worker and took him to jail.

Rowland quoted Charles Lynch, 37, a brick plant worker, as saying: "I want this printed on the front page of tonight's paper with my picture. You just tell me you won't publish this and I'll shoot you dead."

Employes of the paper said Lynch had been there several times before in attempts to get articles printed but had made no threats on the previous visits.

Sentinel newsman Dick Ruble said the copy was similar to previous articles. He described it as "religious in nature but wth no meaning, almost incoherent."

The employes said the man walked into the publisher's office shortly before Rowland arrived and waited.

When the publisher arrived, the man handed him two typewritten sheets of paper.

Rowland said Lynch made the threat, pulled out a .22-caliber target pistol and fired a shot which missed him and hit a file cabinet.

"I was standing with my hand on my hip," Rowland said. "I think the bullet went between my arm and my body."

"You call the editor down here and tell him to get it in today," he quoted Lynch as saying.

In an effort to soothe the man and get him out of the office, the publisher told Editor J. Martin Stroup to set the article in type.

But, after Stroup left the office, Rowland said Lynch blocked the door with a chair, sat down and declared he was going to hold the publisher until the paper was published.

State police were called in after borough officers, answering a call from newspaper employes, were told: "You get out of here or Rowland gets it."

Lynch was captured after state and local police caught him off guard and rushed him.

Lynch was held in the Mifflin County jail in lieu of $6,000 bond. He was charged with pointing a deadly weapon, assault with intent to kill and violation of the firearms act.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION

Gov. Brown Says 'Not Committed'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Friday he's not committed to anyone for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He denied a published report that he had decided to support Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), and said: "I have made no commitment to any candidate of any kind, nature or description."

Brown said he has never told anyone at any time he would back Kennedy, and he doesn't think he can bind the 81-vote California delegation — which he controls as a favorite son — to any particular candidate.

"I have no intention of helping any candidate at this time and at least until after the June primary," he told his news conference.

In New York, former President Harry S. Truman said he fully believes Brown hasn't pledged California to any one. "I don't think he would lie. He's the boss of California and he doesn't have to."

There will be two slates of Democratic National Convention delegates on California's June 7 presidential primary ballot. One is pledged to Brown, the other to pension promoter George McLain.

Brown said he talked by telephone with Kennedy and Minnesota Gov. Orville L. Freeman last Friday. He said he was concerned by the bitterness of the Wisconsin primary contest between Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn).

"I asked if anything could be done to diminish the bitterness between two men for whom I had great respect," Brown said.

"That was the sum and substance of my conversation."

He said he had hoped the rough campaigning could be avoided in the West Virginia Democratic presidential primary. But he said he got no assurance that it would be any better there.

Later, in a television interview, Brown, like Kennedy a Roman Catholic, was asked whether he was concerned that the religious issue might be brought up again in West Virginia.

He replied that "whether we like it or not, religion is an issue in the campaign." He said it doesn't matter to him what church a man goes to as long as he's a good citizen.

"But in a political campaign, everything is an issue, every phase of a man's life, and we may not like some of these things but they're in it."

only the world's largest air conditioner manufacturer can bring you big 1960 values like these

Last autumn, before the 10% U.S. tax went into effect, other air conditioner plants were shut down. Part-time manufacturers were diverting strike-scarce steel into ranges, washers, refrigerators.

Last autumn at Fedders, where air conditioning is a full-time job, more tax-free air conditioners were made and shipped than the next two full-time manufacturers produced the entire preceding year.

Now you can buy a real FEDDERS for less than an ordinary air conditioner

It pays to do business with the leader this year, more than ever before.

The mass production economies available only to Fedders, world's largest manufacturer of household air conditioners, have always left room in low Fedders prices for extra quality, extra features, extra cooling power. But this year, thanks to Fedders' year 'round production schedules, you can enjoy still greater value: Thousands of dealers who place their orders for the world's largest-selling air conditioner early in the year as a matter of course, received large shipments of 1960 air conditioners before the new U.S. Excise Tax went into effect. That means a 10% saving, right off — if you act now.

Isn't it reassuring, too, to know that you don't have to settle for a "second-best" air conditioner despite steel shortages, despite the new U.S. tax, despite late production schedules? Because this year, Fedders out-distances the field in performance by a greater length than ever:

Fedders Air Conditioners are engineered... manufactured...tested to cool effectively at 115 degrees. That's 20 degrees hotter than the standard laboratory temperature at which BTU's are measured.

And that's what it's likely to register out in the sun (where your air conditioner operates) when the Weather Bureau reports 95 degrees.

It will pay you, therefore, to look beyond mere BTU's. In recent competitive tests against air conditioners with similar BTU ratings, a Fedders pulled indoor temperatures down, held them down when it was 115 degrees outdoors. Most of the other air conditioners tested failed to cool as well...or turned off altogether to avoid permanent damage from overheating.

So for cooling power when you need it most ...for savings that make it smart to buy the finest, this year insist on a Fedders.
